The morning session of our June 7 auction features a remarkable grouping of original art, artists’ books and illustrated works from the 18th through the 21st centuries. We open with early art and architecture titles, including Colen Campbell’s spectacular 1715-25 catalog of the great British houses of the era, Vitruvius Britannicus. Following, we offer a fine selection of artists’ books, highlighted by a complete set of Ed Ruscha’s bookworks, and an illuminated manuscript in a spectacular jeweled binding by Sangorski and Sutcliffe. The next section features works by “Rackham and his Contemporaries,” primarily a selection of Rackham’s illustrated books, many in fine bindings by Asprey and others, along with an assortment of early 20th-century books pictured by Edmund Dulac, Harry Clarke, and a particularly nice copy of William Timlin’s The Ship That Sailed to Mars.

Which brings us to the meat of the morning session: nearly 50 lots of original illustration art. The section is anchored by our cover lot, Arthur Szyk’s exquisite 1938 painting of Polish revolutionaries, one of two in this sale, from a series executed for the Polish Pavilion at the 1933 World’s Fair. Tucked away in the center of the section is a collection of works from the estate of popular illustrator John La Gatta, famous in the 1930s for his bathing beauties created for the Saturday Evening Post, Cosmopolitan, Harper’s Bazaar, McCalls, Redbook, and other popular periodicals of the day. We’re also pleased to offer an archive of original “Little Toot” illustrations of Hardie Gramatky, used in the production of the Weston Woods Studios short film of the book, as well as original artwork by Kate Greenaway, Arnold Lobel, Beni Montresor, Barry Moser, Alice Provensen, William Heath Robinson, Charles Schulz, Maurice Sendak and William Steig.

Our second session opens with Victor Hess’s 1936 Nobel Prize in Physics, awarded for his discovery of the source of cosmic radiation. Prior to Hess’s work it was believed that radiation emanated from the earth. Hess discovered, by measuring radiation at increasingly higher altitudes (including via hot air balloon!) that in fact cosmic rays were coming from space. His discovery opened the door to an expanse of 20th-century research into the outer edges of the physical universe.

From the Nobel, we move quickly to Natural History, with terrific color plate books like Daniel Elliot’s New and Heretofore Unfigured Species of the Birds of North America, and Literature to 1900 which features a signed first edition of Whitman’s As a Strong Bird on Binyons Free,…, as well as a group of remarkable Thackeray illustrations and letters, including one to Charles Dickens. Our Modern Literature, Film and Performing Arts section offers several remarkable literary archives, including producer Charlie Feldman’s files relating to the film adaptations of Tennessee Williams’ The Glass Menagerie and Nelson Algren’s Walk on the Wild Side. We also offer a group of 25 letters by Harper Lee to a fan, in which, among other things, she addresses the question of her sexuality (you’ll have to read the description to find out what she says).

We are very pleased to offer in our Americana section a group of 6 letters descended through the family of founding father Gouverneur Morris, including a 4 page war date letter from George Washington addressing Morris’ plan to attack New York City, the overall Southern Campaign, and offering some poignant views on the state of the Continental Army in 1779. The Morris property also features letters of Thomas Jefferson, Baron von Steuben, the Chevalier d’Orleans, as well as an exceptional letter from Lafayette written from the French Assembly in late January of 1790, as crowds fill the streets of Paris. The sale closes with a collection of manuscripts and memorabilia from the estate of Dan Topping, co-owner of the New York Yankees from the late 1940s through the 1960s, a period of Yankees glory unrivaled in the modern era. His son Tom has written an introduction for us on page 152 that puts the collection in context better than I can, but safe to say this sort of primary material, including papers relating to team and stadium building, are very exciting to see.

As always, if you have any questions about the sale or any item in it, do not hesitate to call any member of the department.

1 BARTOLOZZI, FRANCESCO AND PELTRO WILLIAM TOMKINS, ILLUSTRATORS.

THOMSON, JAMES. 1700-1748. The Seasons, by ... Thomson. Illustrated with engravings... from original pictures painted for the work by W. Hamilton. London: P.W. Tomkins, 1797. Folio (455 x 380 mm). [12], 244 pp, plus engraved frontispiece, dedication, and 6 engraved plates, with a further 14 engravings in text, all with original tissue-guards. Contemporary blue straight-grained morocco gilt, covers with wide decorative neo-classical border made up from fillets, a drawer-handle roll and a swag and stylized flower head roll, spine in seven compartments with double raised bands, the bands highlighted by rules and roll tools, lettered in the second compartment, edges with alternate bands of gilding and blue staining. Corners bumped and worn; some toning to blank margins of plates.

US$2,000 - 3,000

BAUR, ALFRED, AND JOHN AYERS, ET AL.

First editions. Alfred Baur gave his celebrated collection of Chinese ceramics to the foundation which bears his name shortly before he died. He began collecting in about 1907 and continued right up until his death, but little was known of the breadth and quality of his collecting until the present catalogues were published, comprising Korean and Thai wares (Volume One); Ming porcelain etc. (Volume Two); and monochrome-glazed porcelains of the Ch’ing dynasty (Volume Three). Each volume was printed in 1000 copies.

US$800 - 1,200

BING, VALENTYN, AND JAN BRAET VON UEBERFELDT.

Nederlandsche Kleederdragten naar de Natuur Geteekend ... Costumes des Pays-Bas. Amsterdam: Frans Buffa en Zonen, [1857]. Folio (510 x 355 mm). Title, contents leaf, and 14 leaves of text descriptions and 56 hand-colored tinted lithographed plates. Old black morocco over marbled boards, spine gilt. Some soiling to text leaves and foxing to plates.

Rare folio work on the costumes of the Low Countries, with all costumes and backgrounds finished in hand-color. Lipperheide records only an 8vo issue, while the copy seen by Colas had only 36 plates. Landwehr calls this “the most variegated costume book of the Low Countries”. A “second series” of 18 additional plates was published in 1859. Landwehr, Dutch Books w. Col. Plates 242. Lipperheide Gb59. Colas 333.

US$3,000 - 5,000
BLAKE, WILLIAM. 1757-1827.
4 volumes. Folio (395 x 305 mm). Contained in two large slipcases, the first housing the text volume, and a portfolio of plates, including all 21 plates in several states, 21 fascicules, and a plate-by-plate commentary by Bo Lindberg; the second slipcase houses The Colour Versions of the Book of Job from the Circle of John Linnell, the text volume, and three separate volumes of illustrations, all bound in quarter-morocco, with solander boxes fitted inside each slipcase, light spotting to spines, but overall, nearly fine copies.
Provenance: Steve Bales (bookplate).
LIMITED EDITION, no 16 of 250 copies of the standard edition of this elaborate publication. The crowning achievement of Arnold Fawcus and the Trianon Press, who beginning in 1950 produced the famous series of Blake facsimiles. Illustrations to the Book of Job was printed around 1974, but remained unassembled until 1987, when the sheets were bound up in the present form by Smith Settle of Otley, Yorkshire. A magnificent production, sold with two more fine examples of Blake's works from the Trianon Press.
US$3,000 - 5,000

[BLAKE, WILLIAM, AFTER.]
A relieve leather screen with 8 scenes likely modeled on Blake's 1810 engraving, “Chaucer's Canterbury Pilgrims," comprising 4 hinged panels, 83 x 87 inches total, c. 1890, with wooden frame, each panel covered with relieve leather, the four panels decorated with scenes from Chaucer's Canterbury Pilgrims after William Blake's engraving, each scene decorated with shields (left blank) and tudor roses with backgrounds of cities, the leather painted with gold and colors, and the whole varnished, some light wear of leather at edges, the varnish darkened, some scratches.
An attractive screen decorated in Blakeian style with the figures of the Canterbury Pilgrims, 2 scenes to each panel, eight in total. Probably English, late 19th century, in this example the shields have been left blank but it would have been easy to substitute your own arms to this screen to personalize it.
US$1,000 - 1,500

BOWYER, ROBERT, PUBLISHER. 1758-1834.
An Illustrated Record of the Important Events in the Annals of Europe, which Occurred during the last Campaigns on the Continent; comprising a Series of Views of the Principal Places, Battles, etc. etc. etc. connected with those Events. Together with a History of those Momentous Transactions, compiled from Official and other authentic Documents. London: T. Bensley & Son for R. Bowyer, 1820.
Folio (490 x 343 mm), [2], 32, [14], 34 pp. With 16 aquatint or engraved plates (13 hand-colored, 3 double-page). Contemporary blue paper boards with vellum tips, publisher's decorative printed label on cover. Rebacked in white calf at an early date with gilt title label, endpapers renewed.
FRESH AND FINELY-COLORED COPY of Bowyer's color-plate work on the Napoleonic War and the Battle of Waterloo. Bowyer issued various collections of plates under similar titles from 1815 onwards; the present work would appear to be his final survey of the campaigns, and complete as issued. Cf. Abbey Life 351-355. Cf. Tooley 97.
US$1,000 - 1,500
BRIDGENS, RICHARD HICKS. 1785-1846.
Folio (375 x 292 mm). Hand-colored engraved title page, 2pp letterpress list of plates, 58 hand-colored engraved, etched and aquatint plates (one double-page and assigned two numbers in the plate list, 5 by and after Bridgen, 22 by Shaw after Bridgen, and 31 unassigned). Contemporary plum cloth with late 19th century manuscript label, neatly rebacked in green morocco. Colors bright and fresh. Scattered light staining to blank margins of a few plates.
Provenance: J. Paul Lammers (stamp to 9 leaves).

US$3,000 - 5,000

CAMPBELL, COLEN. 1676-1720.
Vitruvius Britannicus, or the British Architect. Containing the Plans, Elevations, and Sections of the Regular Buildings both Publick and Private in Great Britain. London: For the author, 1715-1725. 3 volumes in 2. Folio (460 x 285 mm).
Engraved titles to volumes 1 and 2, printed title to volume 3 in red and black, engraved dedication in volume 1, 2 lists of subscribers, 295 engraved plates on 245 sheets. Full blindstamped suede, spine lettered and decorated in gilt, rebacked. A few double-page plates with staining at center vertical fold from tab adhesive, some browning to plates in vols I-II, vol II pl 39 with 1 inch cut to lower margin.
Provenance: John Ward (bookplate).

Campbell's 3 volume tome, published between 1715 and 1725, is an exhaustive catalog of the architectural style of great British buildings of the early 18th century. "Vitruvius Britannicus, with its 200 large folio plates, was the most ambitious publication of engraved material attempted up to that time in Britain" (Harris 97 & 99). Fowler 76.

US$3,000 - 5,000

Les Cartes à Jouer du XIVe au XXe siècle. Paris: Hachette, 1906. 2 volumes. 4to (320 x 255 mm). With 180 plates (122 colored, five mounted) and numerous uncolored illustrations. Modern red half morocco over the original boards, titled in gilt on spine, original hand-colored illustrated cream thick-paper wrappers folded and bound in at the front of each volume, t.e.g., neat repair to foot of spine of Vol I. Provenance: Monsieur Bois (“exemplaire imprimé pour Monsieur Bois” on verso of half title in Vol I).

First edition of this exhaustive treatise on the cultural history of playing-cards, illustrated with c.3200 images of historical cards. With the valuable “Bibliographie des ouvrages sur les cartes à jouer” bound at the end of Vol II.

US$1,200 - 1,800
DEVÉRIA, ACHILLE. 1800-1857.
Bound collection of original artwork for Deveria’s edition of La Fontaine’s Contes [Paris: E. Ardit, 1829-30], folio (350 x 260 mm), 130 leaves comprising 4 original pen-and-ink drawings heightened with white, 46 pencil drawings on tracing paper, and 84 original lithographs in variant states, 31 of which are hand-colored; the lithographs bound in and the drawings tipped to size. Full morocco extra by E. & A. Maylander, elaborately gilt and inlaid with red morocco, silk doublures, all edges gilt; uniform morocco-trimmed slipcase, a few leaves with short repaired edge tears or small soil marks; slipcase with mild rubbing, binding very fine. Provenance: Sale Christies, Paris, May 21, 2003.

UNIQUE SUITE OF ORIGINAL DRAWINGS AND PROOF LITHOGRAPHS for Deveria’s illustrations of La Fontaine’s Contes, including many discarded designs. Handsomely bound in morocco extra, the covers with wide gilt borders incorporating inlays of burgundy and red morocco, spine and turn-ins similarly gilt with inlay. US$3,000 - 5,000

Tapisseries du Roy, ou sont représentées les quatre éléments et les quatre saisons. Avec les devises qui les accompagnent, et leur explication. Paris: Sebastien Mabre-Cramoisy, 1679. Royal folio (500 x 350 mm). Letterpress title, [89] pp including 32 half-page emblems in text, plus 2 divisional engraved titles and 8 double-page plates of tapestries, extra-illustrated with a further 4 double-page plates featuring royal subjects (conquests, treaties etc) by Sebastien Le Clerc after Charles le Brun and Jacques Bailly. Contemporary French red morocco gilt, the covers paneled with triple fillets around large centrally-placed French royal arms of Louis XIV, crowned double-L cypher at inner corners of panel, spine in seven compartments with raised bands, lettered in the second, the others with repeat decoration of smaller crowned double-L cypher with small fleur-de-lys tool, marbled endpapers, gilt edges. Occasional light dampstaining to corners.

A SPLENDID, LARGE COPY BOUND WITH THE ARMS OF THE SUN KING, LOUIS XIV, likely for royal presentation. Intended as a testament to the lavish tapestries commissioned by the king on the themes of the Four Elements and the Four Seasons. The central panels were designed by the painter Le Brun, with emblematic roundels in the borders at each corner after the miniatures of Jacques Bailly. These roundels are visible on each of the plates but are also enlarged and embellished and printed as half-page illustrations, each with letterpress explanatory text above and below. This is the second edition of a work first published in 1670; the additional four plates bound at the rear further celebrate the exploits of Louis XIV and are dated up to 1682. Brunet I, 1443; Praz, p 58; Landwehr Romantic Emblem Books 286. US$5,000 - 8,000

[FORE-EDGE PAINTING.]

A lovely set with fore-edge paintings of American scenes, depicting Philadelphia and Boston, to each volume. US$1,000 - 1,500

Antiquarian study of medieval German armor and heraldry by a very skilled artist, with most illustrations finished in watercolor. Depicted are specific historical figures (David Baumgartner, Christopher Relinger, Georg Pfister, etc) as well as the colors and insignia of noble families.

US$2,000 - 3,000

ILLUMINATED INITIAL.
Large historiated initial “O,” illustrating Christ washing the disciples feet, red, blue, green, yellow, purple and gilt on vellum, 164 x 127 mm, from a sixteenth century manuscript, possibly a missale.

US$1,000 - 1,500

[KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.]
Bound manuscript, Knights Templar Cards from the Triennial at Washington, D. C. [cover title] folio, [Washington, D.C.: 1889], comprising over 1,000 mounted printed calling cards (most colored) of Knights Templar members attending the 1889 Triennial Grand Conclave, many signed by the members, contemporary half morocco and pebbled cloth covered boards, upper cover and spine lettered in gilt, marbled endpapers.

Provenance: Carlos G. Young, Generalissimo of the Golden Gate Commandery, No. 16, K.T. (name in gilt on upper cover).

AN IMPRESSIVE COLLECTION OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR CALLING CARDS. The twenty-fourth Triennial Grand Conclave of the Knights Templar was held October 8th to 10th in Washington D.C. The calling cards, beautifully printed in gold and colors and including an intricate array of Masonic symbols, were actively collected and traded by members.

At the time of this conclave, Carlos G. Young, the compiler of the present album who attended the conclave, served as the Generalissimo of the Golden Gate Commandery, No. 16. In the rear of this album is a souvenir pamphlet (printed recto only, and disbound and mounted within the album) titled Pilgrimage of Golden Gate Commandery No. 16 Knights Templar ... to Washington, D.C. which details day-by-day the San Francisco commandery’s trip to the Conclave.

US$1,000 - 1,500

US$1,500 - 2,500

MEYRICK, SAMUEL RUSH, 1783-1848.

A Critical Inquiry into Antient Armour, as it Existed in Europe, particularly in Great Britain, from the Norman Conquest to the reign of King Charles II. Illustrated by a series of illuminated engravings...
Second edition, corrected and enlarged. London: Henry G. Bohn, 1842.
3 volumes. Folio (365 x 265 mm). Half-titles, hand-coloured lithographed frontispiece to Vol 1, 80 etched and aquatint plates (70 finely hand-colored, some heightened with gold and silver), 27 large hand-colored initials, most heightened with gilt. Publisher’s red half morocco over marbled paper-covered boards, marbled endpapers, gilt edges.

Provenance: John Gretton, 1st Baron Gretton (1867-1947, armorial bookplate).

Second and best edition of Meyrick’s lavish survey of arms and armor, with 70 hand-colored costume plates. The plates and initials were taken from copies of “antient seals, illuminations, painted glass, and monuments’ (Preface), Lipperheide Qb62 (2nd edition); Lowndes
II, p 1541.

US$1,500 - 2,500

NASH, JOHN, AND EDWARD WEDLAKE BRAYLEY.

Illustrations of Her Majesty’s Palace at Brighton; formerly the Pavilion:
executed by the command of King George the fourth, under the Folio (545 x 370 mm). 31 plates, extra-illustrated with a further 20 plates in different states, giving a total of 51 plates; 5 hand-colored or aquatint and many printed in sepia; some mounted on india paper.
Modern half black morocco over marbled boards to style, spine gilt, a handful of the extra illustrations showing abrasion or spotting.

The second edition, extra-illustrated with 20 additional plates in variant states, of this visual record of the “Orientalization” of the Royal Pavilion at Brighton. The work was issued complete with uncolored outline etchings and text; however, the publishers offered separately-issued colored aquatints, finished by hand and mounted on card, “to be bound with the Work at the option of the purchaser.” Besides including some of these desirable colored plates, this copy includes variants of the uncolored plates. Abbey describes some, but the present copy is unusual in the large number of different uncolored and color-printed variants. Abbey Scenery 62. Tooley 338. Lowndes II, 1651.

US$4,000 - 6,000
NEWDEGATE, CHARLES NEWDIGATE. 1816-1887.
Sketches from the Washington Races on October 1840 by An Eye Witness. [London: c.1841].
Folio (380 x 560 mm). Original printed gray wrappers and 3 hand-colored lithographed plates, as issued. Housed in modern black cloth box with morocco lettering piece.
FINE, FRESH COPY OF THIS VERY RARE LONDON COLOR-PLATE WORK, depicting in caricature African-American jockeys at Washington race track in South Carolina. Each plate bears an indelicate, humorous rhyming explanatory caption. Until its sale in 1900 the Washington race track in Charleston was the oldest horse-racing track in the world, established in 1735. The piers from its entrance way were given to Belmont Park, New York, where they still stand today. Henderson Early American Sport p 185.
US$1,800 - 2,500

PALLADIO, ANDREA.
Folio (448 x 287 mm). 3 volumes of 4 (lacking volume II and second part of volume IV). Engraved frontispiece, portrait, titles, subscription lists, and 102 plates, 8 of which are double-page. Full paneled calf, spine lettered in gilt. 1 inch worming to frontis and title page of volume I, not affecting image, interior generally clean, rebacked.
FIRST EDITION IN ENGLISH of one of the most influential books on architecture. “Palladio’s lasting influence on architectural style in many parts of the world was exercised less through his actual buildings than through his textbook. This is divided into four sections: orders and elementary problems, domestic building, public building and town planning and temples. Palladio’s style was directly inspired by Roman classical models through the writings of Vitruvius and Alberti” (PMM).
US$2,500 - 3,500
PICART, BERNARD. 1673-1733.

FINE COPY OF THIS IMPORTANT SURVEY OF RELIGIOUS CEREMONIES. Picart’s survey of the religious ceremonies of the Americas, Europe, the Middle East, and Asia was thoroughly revised by Poncelin de La Roche-Tilhac for this edition, which incorporates all of the supplements published since 1723. Volume II also includes an important series of 15 plates offering a contemporary picture of the life and ceremonies of Jews in Europe. cf. Brunet I, 1743. cf. Sabin 4932.

US$3,500 - 4,500

[RUSSIA.]
LE PRINCE, JEAN BAPTISTE. 1734-1781. Recueil of engravings by Jean-Baptiste Le Prince on Russian costumes, Paris: 1764-1774 [but circa 1820, paper watermarked 1818], 4to (280 x 222 mm), comprising 87 engraved or aquatint plates, including engraved titles, modern morocco backed boards, minor foxing.

In 1758 Le Prince journeyed to Russia to work for Catherine the Great at the Imperial Palace, St. Petersburg. He remained in Russia for five years and also travelled extensively throughout Finland, Lithuania and Siberia. When Le Prince returned to Paris in December, 1763, he brought with him an extensive collection of drawings which served as the source material for the present suites.

As usual, the present album contains plates from several of Le Prince’s suites not necessarily bound in order, including the following: Divers Ajustements et Usages de Russie; Divers Habillements des Femmes de Moscovie; Ille. Suite d’Habillement des Femmes de Moscovie; Divers Habillements des Pretres de Russie; Les Strelits; Premier Suite de Cris et Divers Marchands de Petersbourg et de Moscou; 2me Suite de Divers Cris de Marchands de Russie; Ille. Suite de Divers Cris de Marchands de Russie; Habillements de Diverses Nations; Suite de divers Habillements des Peuples du Nord; Vue des Environs de St. Peterbourg; Diverses Vues de Livonie; and Ille Suite d’Habillements de Diverses Nations. Cf. Colas 1838-1850; cf. Hiler p. 539; cf. Cohen/de Ricci 625-626.

STOTHARD, THOMAS. 1755-1834.
10 volumes. 4to (370 x 275 mm). Lithographic portrait frontispiece mounted on india paper, additional title within decorative wood-engraved border, title with wood-engraved headpiece, numerous wood-engraved illustrations printed in bistre, extra-illustrated with approximately 1,344 additional items (including 1 autograph letter signed from the author, 8 original pen, ink and wash drawings by Stothard, 6 original watercolor drawings by Stothard, and 1,323 engravings after Stothard including 14 by William Blake). 19th-century red morocco by Riviere, elaborately gilt, g.e., small expert repair to head of Vol VIII.

REMARKABLE 10-VOLUME COLLECTION OF STOTHARD’S WORK, EXPANSIVELY EXTRA-ILLUSTRATED, with original watercolors and drawings by Stothard, as well as well over one-thousand engravings executed by many of the greatest engravers of the late-18th and early 19th century, including Stothard’s friend William Blake. Based around the first edition of the first full biography of the artist, written by his daughter-in-law, this collection was expanded during the 19th century with this fine collection of original artwork and engravings.

“Among the prose works illustrated by [Stothard] were novels by Fielding, Smollett, Richardson, and Sterne, Ridley’s Tales of the Genii, Paltock’s Peter Wilkins, Don Quixote, Gulliver’s Travels. These designs made a new departure in book illustration by their variety of invention, their literary sympathy, their spirit and their grace. Those to Peregrine Pickle and Peter Wilkins have been specially admired, but Stothard never surpassed those to Clarissa Harlowe for elegance, or those to Tristram Shandy for delicate humor. He may be said to have founded the types of Sancho Panza and Uncle Toby, afterwards adopted by his friend Charles Robert Leslie and others. To this period also belong a few charming illustrations to Ritson’s Songs (1783). A little later (1788-9) came his illustrations to the Pilgrim’s Progress, in which he found a region of pure but very human allegory well suited to his gentle imagination...” (DNB). For the Blake engravings: Bentley Blake Books 417C; 436; 485 (no 1 and 2); 486 (no 2 and 3); 487 (no 1, 2 and 3); 491 (no 7); 494 (no 1,2,3 and 4).

US$12,000 - 18,000
STUART, JAMES, AND NICHOLAS REVETT.
2 volumes (of 5). Folio (530 x 355 mm). With frontispiece portrait (in volume II), engraved title vignettes, head- and headpieces, and 145 engraved plans and views, including 4 double page and one folding. Half tan calf over marbled boards, spines lettered and decorated in gilt. Some browning to plates V-VI in volume I, some thumbing to text leaves in volume II, but otherwise a clean copy. Both volumes expertly rebacked.
Provenance: George Philips (bookplate to both volumes).

THOUIN, GABRIEL. 1747-1829.
Folio (430 x 290 mm). [1], 56 pp, [1 leaf of errata], plus 57 hand-colored lithographed plates by C. Motte after Thouin. Modern half brown calf over old marbled boards, endpapers renewed. Scattered minor foxing.
Second edition, of the “most beautiful work to be published in France on pleasure gardens” (Bouchard, Traité des constructions rurales, 850). Thouin trained under his father, the chief gardener at the Jardin des Plantes in Paris. The present work, which depicts both actual gardens designed by Thouin as well as proposed designs, was aimed at landscapers at all levels, providing working plans for many different types of gardens, including large parks (including some of the plans for the Jardin des Plantes), pleasure gardens, orchards, a Chinese garden, an English garden, a pharmaceutical garden and more. The first edition of this book was issued uncolored; in this second edition the paths and waterways of the gardens are highlighted in blues and yellows. ANUSZKIEWICZ, RICHARD. B.1930.
Large folio (657 x 504 mm). With 11 serigraphs (including a repeat of number 9 as frontispiece) by Anuszkiewicz, each housed in a thick paper folder with silk-screened text by William Blake. In original lucite box. Fingersoiling to folder 7, faint spotting to blank back of folder 10, some scuffing and and a few dings to case, prints fine.

LIMITED EDITION, NO 466 OF 500 COPIES, SIGNED by the artist.
The words of William Blake perfectly illuminate Anuszkiewicz own op-art investigations of color, light and form. “So prismatically beautiful is Anuszkiewicz’s visual discourse with space that the results have a buoyant, floating effect, as though form and space were one and the same…” (John Gruen Art News September, 1979).

BEARDSLEY, AUBREY VINCENT. 1872-1898.
6 volumes bound in three. 8vo. With plates maps and text illustrations throughout. Contemporary 3/4 leather, marbled boards, cloth folding box, some internal foxing.
Provenance: Harry Manwaring (stamp to endpapers).
AUBREY BEARDSLEY’S VERY FIRST APPEARANCE IN PRINT. The future artist attended the Brighton Grammar School from 1884 to 1888, where he excelled in art. The precocious twelve-year-old published his first poem, “The Valient,” signed “A B [sic] Beardsley,” in Past and Present, July 1885, pp. 45-46. His earliest known portrait (by fellow student J. F. Stride) as “Schoolboy” appears in February 1887, p. 3. The June 1887 contains his earliest published drawing, a humorous sketch titled “The Jubilee Cricket Analysis” and signed “A V Beardsley,” facing p. 48. Most important is “The Brighton Grammar School Annual Entertainment” program, a supplement to Volume XIV (1889), that includes 11 illustrations by Beardsley for “The Pay of the Pied Piper: A Legend of Hamlin Town,” pp. 21-45. The drawings were obviously based on the pictures in Robert Browning’s The Pied Piper of Hamelin (1888) by Kate Greenaway, an artist he adored. (Beardsley took the role of “Herr Kirschwasse.” in this juvenile comic opera). “School Notes” (February 1889) observed: “Beardsley added to his reputation by his careful and natural illustration of a unique individuality. His artistic drawings are full of life and movement” (p. 3). He became England’s “next big thing” just four years later with the publication of Thomas Mallory’s Le Morte d’Arthur (1893). Lasner 1, 2 and 5.

JOHNS, JASPER. B.1930.
4to. Illustrated with an original signed etching frontispiece by Jasper Johns. Original half blue morocco over cloth. Faint narrow discoloration to outer edge of frontis; else fine.

LIMITED EDITION WITH A SIGNED ETCHING BY JASPER JOHNS, no 269 from an edition of 326. The etching was printed by ULAE and titled Summer. This printing was the first appearance of any of the images from “The Seasons.” “This print ... predates Johns's series of paintings and prints by almost two years. The work contains what appears to be a symbolic self portrait in silhouette on the left and Johns's thrusting hand on the right. The composition is filled with visual references to Johns's personal interests (George Ohr pottery) and artistic references (i.e. the American flags, the Mona Lisa). The combination of the descriptive yet evasive Johns print with the clear yet dense poetry of Wallace Stevens was an inspired choice by artist and publisher” (Logan Collection 164). RUSCHA, ED. B.1937.
4to and 8vo, original wrappers, with glassine jackets, and slipcases, where called for, light wear, but generally very clean, near fine copies.

Beginning in 1962 and continuing through 1978, Ruscha published 16 compact, photography-based books, in the process altering the very conception of the artist’s book. The antithesis of the lush and produced livre d’artiste, these sparing and beautiful books defied the conventions of art publishing in both format and subject matter, and spawned, more than any other artist, the world of the modern artist book. By now the subject of over one-hundred homages, tributes and appropriations, including artists from Bruce Naumann (Burning Small Fires, 1968) to Dan Colen (Peanuts, 2011), the remarkable work of Ed Ruscha has exerted an out-sized influence on the development of the modern book, and continues to resonate widely today.

“The most renowned series of artist’s books in the history of the genre, Ed Ruscha’s works still retain their capacity to surprise, delight, and puzzle in equal measure. In the several decades since they were published, they have been much exhibited, written about and analyzed, yet they somehow are still objects of mystery and fascination, beguiling in their utter simplicity and immutable rightness.” Parr, M. & Badger, G., The Photobook: A History (Volume II) (London: Phaidon, 2006), pp 140-1.

SANGORSKI & SUTCLIFFE: JEWELLED BINDING
BYRON, LORD [GEORGE GORDON]. An illuminated manuscript on vellum, being Byron's Ode to Napoleon, imperial 8vo, engrossed on 17 leaves of vellum, and illuminated with 6 miniatures by L. Fairfax Murray, with headings in gold, illuminated initials, and borders, bound by Sangorski & Sutcliffe in crushed red levant morocco jewelled binding, in a silk lined custom morocco box, fine condition. Provenance: Phoebe A.D. Boyle, her sale, Anderson Galleries, 1923.

FANTASTIC EXAMPLE OF A SANGORSKI & SUTCLIFFE JEWELLED BINDING, in red levant morocco, with the arms of Napoleon inset in the front cover, embellished with gems, jewelled with 9 pearls and 3 rubies, and incorporating 9 sapphires, surrounded with a wreath of laurel enriched with 79 pearls. The borders feature interlaced strapwork in green on gilt, with a modelled bee device at the corners, highlighted by mother-of-pearl wings. The lower cover features a central jewelled device, incorporating the arms of Washington, with the last stanza of the poem inscribed along the margins, with jewelled points featuring 4 opals and 8 amethysts, and along the borders an elaborate gilt design with Napoleonic ciphers. The front doublure is composed of a repeating cipher in gilt on dark blue morocco, with a central Napoleonic cipher inset, jewelled with 4 garnets and 8 moonstones, all surrounded by a diaper design with emblematic tooling. The rear doublure features a similar overall design, but with the central inset design being the author's initial “B” beneath a coronet, surrounded by his favorite flower, violets, featuring 4 amethysts.

The 17-page manuscript is accomplished on vellum, the fine work of L. Fairfax Murray, a Birmingham artist from the Arts and Crafts movement, heavily influenced by Edward Burne-Jones. It features 6 miniatures, including the frontispiece, each illustrating an historic event including Napoleon at the Battle of Wagram, and Marengo, his retreat from Moscow, and his exile. The other leaves begin with finely illuminated initials, with verses headed in gold, with a final illuminated tail-piece, and manuscript colophon signed by Sangorski, Sutcliffe, and Muckley.

A magnificent modern illuminated vellum manuscript, housed in a brilliant, elaborate jewelled binding.

WIENER WERKSTÄTTE.

Die Wiener Werkstätte, 1903-1928: modernes Kunstgewerbe und sein Weg. Vienna: Krystall-Verlag, 1929. 4to (220 x 210 mm). Photographic illustrations throughout with pages printed in full-color, black-and-white, silver and gold. Publisher’s orange and black molded sculptural relief papier-maché boards, designed by Vally Wieselthier and Gudrun Baudisch. Front joint starting, rear joint a little chipped, fore-edge a little worn.

FIRST EDITION of a landmark in 20th century book design. Despite the acute financial difficulties facing the Wiener Werkstätte, a large jubilee celebration was undertaken to mark the 25th anniversary of its founding. This souvenir publication for the event was intended to illustrate the development of the Wiener Werkstätte and its products since 1903. The work documents all facets of its production in the decorative arts: silver, textiles, lighting, porcelain, glass and all manner of incidental objects d’art. Particular emphasis is given to the work of Josef Hoffmann (who is credited as the guiding genius behind the book), Dagobert Peche, Koloman Moser, Vally Wieselthier and Kitty Rix, among others. The hand-embossed papier-maché covers and layout of the interior can be seen as a final example of Gesamtkunstwerk by the Wiener Werkstätte.

YUN-FEI JI. B.1963.
Hand-colored woodcut scroll, 340 x 3065 mm, printed on Japan paper and silk, with wooden dowels, housed in original blue cloth folding box, lined in silk, fine condition.

LIMITED EDITION, no 40 of 108 copies, signed and numbered in pencil by Yun-Fei Ji. This remarkable artist’s book utilizes over 500 blocks, hand printed with watercolor ink by the famed Rongbaozhai studio, in depicting the “floating weeds” - his word for the people displaced by the decade long construction of the Three Gorges Dam - along the Yangtze. In a style adapted from classical Chinese landscape painting, the artist employs elements of fantasy and folk legends contrasted with the stark reality of the displacement to create a moving portrait of modern China.

DULAC, EDMUND. 1882-1953.
POE, EDGAR ALLAN. The Bells and Other Poems. London: Hodder and Stoughton, [1912].
4to (285 x 225 mm). 28 tipped-in color plates. Original gilt decorated vellum with the original gold silk ties intact, covers bowing, as usual.
DELUXE EDITION, no 41 of 750 copies, signed and numbered by Dulac. This handsome suite of pictures for the great American poet demonstrates that not only was Dulac a superb watercolorist but his pen-and-ink drawings were also masterful. Especially fine is the delicate portrait of brooding Poe that appears on the title-page. The book was also available in a French edition, Stéphane Mallarmé’s translation being better known in France than Poe’s original. Hughey 29a.

BONET, PAUL. 1889-1971.
Gouache and pencil on watercolor paper highlighted with silver paint, Jeanne d'Arc, being a fine binding design, 254 x 254 mm, on larger paper, n.d., very good condition.
Provenance: "Vente Paul Bonet 1er Juin 1990" stamp on verso.

Paul Bonet was one of the great modern masters of French bookbinding. He "evolved an entirely new style of book decoration-totally original, amazingly clever, and really 'modern' in spirit, with a mouvement radiant. His great swirling designs are so ingeniously drawn that, although they are carried out on a flat surface, they represent a third dimension purely through an illusion created by the drawing...Paul Bonet, in my opinion, is without a rival today" (Diehl, Bookbinding: Its Background and Technique, 1946, p 108).

It has been suggested that this graceful Art Deco design was intended for the volume on Jeanne d'Arc in the series of important figures in French history issued by Frants Funck-Brentano, Paris, in 1912. It incorporates the Croix de Lorraine which has come to represent Joan of Arc because she came from Lorraine; and it today symbolizes defiance and liberation. During World War II, it became the emblem of General Charles de Gaulle's Free French Forces.

BOUTET DE MONVEL, LOUIS-MAURICE. 1850-1913.

Original drawings of three French peasant boys and two girls, 229 x 298 mm and 311 x 203 mm, pencil and/or ink on two sheets of paper, some soiling and smudges; crease across center drawing of girls which is mounted on gray card.
Provenance: 2016 estate stamp, lower right hand corner .

Maurice Boutet de Monvel was the first French master of the picture book and arguably the greatest of all French children's book illustrators. He profoundly inspired Maxfield Parrish, Henriette Willebeek le Mair, Maurice Sendak and Hilary Knight's concept of Eloise. He became famous for his portraits of young people and often sketched peasant boys and girls as well as children of the bourgeoisie. Future Nobel Prize Winner Anatole France was so charmed by Boutet de Monvel's pictures of rural and city children that he proposed writing a series of sketches to accompany them. Their collaboration was published in one volume as Nos Enfants in 1897; and later as two separate books, Nos Enfants and Filles et garçons. Evidently this drawing of two little girls served as the study for a watercolor and demonstrates the artist's method of working: he cleaned the nib of his pen in the margins as he went along and covered the back of the sketch with pencil to transfer his precise outline drawing to a piece of watercolor paper for the final painting.

BREHM, WORTH (JAMES ELLSWORTH BREHM). 1883-1928.

Charcoal on illustration board, "This was the gloomiest hour in all that gloomy period," illustration for Booth Tarkington, "Munchausen Penrod," Cosmopolitan Magazine, February 1915, p 252, 521 x 330 mm, signed lower left corner, matted and framed.

"Worth" Brehm was a highly admired American book and magazine illustrator best known for his drawings of boys for Booth Tarkington's Penrod and Sam (1916) and Munchausen Penrod, and Adventures of Huckleberry Finn (1923). He studied at the Herron Institute art school in Indianapolis and The Art Students' League in New York City, and taught at the National School of Art also in New York. His brother George Brehm was also a well known illustrator. Pulitzer Prize Winner Booth Tarkington's Penrod Schofield was once as popular with young readers as Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn. Here he sits baleful in the barn with his dog Duke.

CRAFT, KINUKO YAMABE. BORN 1940.

Egg tempera over watercolor on board, “See why she’s smiling,” parody of the Mona Lisa for IBM advertising campaign, 1993, 260 x 302 mm, signed with monogram on the lower left corner of the IBM catalog, matted and framed.

A witty parody of the Mona Lisa, probably the most famous painting in Western Civilization, reading the IBM product catalog. Lintas Advertising published it widely in print ads in many national magazines in 1993 and 1994.

Born in Japan and a graduate of the Kanazawa College of Art (Kanazawa Bijutsu Kōgei Daigaku), Kinuko Y. Craft has become one of the most versatile commercial artists in America since her arrival in 1964. She has done much advertising and editorial work as well as designed greeting cards, calendars, posters and many book jackets. She is especially celebrated for her exquisite children’s books. After receiving several gold and silver medals from the Society of Illustrators in New York, she became a member of their Hall of Fame in 2008. “Kinuko Craft is a Renaissance woman,” wrote Ray Bradbury. “By this I mean not that she paints like the Renaissance painters, but that she is an artist for all seasons, for all kinds of subjects, and in all kinds of styles.”

CRAFT, KINUKO YAMABE. B.1940.

Watercolor and gouache on handmade paper over Strathmore board, “Japanese Design--Is East meeting West?,” cover design for Adweek, October 7, 1985, 534 x 406 mm, matted and framed.

Kinuko Y. Craft evokes the inherent grace of the geisha as immortalized in nineteenth century color woodblock prints as one draws the other in an exquisitely rendered painting.

GRAMATKY, BERNARD “HARDIE” AUGUST JR. 1907-1979. Archive of original illustrations from the Weston Woods animated film Little Toot, being two watercolors (one a finished watercolor on a photostat) with 43 hand-colored mounted photostats of the original pictures (two on one mount) and two color photostats also mounted, plus title card with lettered acetate overlay, prepared by the artist himself for use in the Weston Woods film, most 286 x 356 mm, all but nine of the hand-colored photostats signed in full in ink below the image to the right, minor wear with some tears of protective tissue guards.

Provenance: Mort Schindel.

Little Toot is one of the most beloved children’s classics of the 20th Century. Few of its admirers are aware that author-artist Hardie Gramatky was in his own right a distinguished painter of landscapes and seascapes of the California School. (American artist Andrew Wyeth thought he was one of America’s greatest watercolorists.) His painting caught Hollywood’s attention and he was hired as a senior animator at the Walt Disney Studios. Here he worked on several of the Silly Symphonies shorts. He learned much from the weekly story conferences and the development of storyboards on how to tell a story visually, knowledge he freely applied to the production of his own picture books. After working for Disney for six years, he went out on his own and published Little Toot in 1939, the first children’s book issued by Simon & Schuster. (They later published such classics as Ludwig Bemelmans’ Madeline and Kay Thompson’s Eloise.) Little Toot is typical of the here-and-now picture books of anthropomorphic machines then being published, most notably Virginia Lee Burton’s Mike Mulligan and His Steam Engine also available in 1939. Little Toot became by far the most successful of Gramatky’s picture books; and he wrote and illustrated five more Little Toot titles. (He left the last, Little Toot and the Loch Ness Monster, unfinished at his death, but his wife and daughter completed and published it in 1989 to commemorate the 50th Anniversary of the original Little Toot.) Walt Disney retold Little Toot in 1948 as an animated segment of Melody Time through a song sung by the Andrews Sisters. The original book contained limited color (only a few including the frontispiece was in full color) so when Morton Schindel of Weston Woods commissioned a new animated movie of the story for school use in 1965, Gramatky colored half-tone photostats of his original illustrations with watercolor and gouache. He then signed these mounted photoreproductions in ink.

GREENAWAY, KATE. 1846-1901.
Four original miniature watercolors of little girls, pencil and watercolor, 76 x 50 mm to 67 x 89 mm, three of the four initialed and dated between 1883 and 1884, framed in pairs.
Kate Greenaway was at the height of her powers when she produced this exquisite quartet. She had just published one of her most enduring and endearing picture books, Jane and Ann Taylor's Little Ann and Other Poems (1883), and had commenced the second of her numerous Almanacks. She often worked to scale so it is possible that these watercolors were intended for one of these famous miniature volumes. She was also in the habit of tucking a little watercolor in with a note or letter to an especially intmate friend. John Ruskin and Frederick Locker-Lampson were among the fortunate ones to be so acknowledged by the beloved illustrator. The first frame holds a delicate painting of a little girl with a sprig of violets; and the other in a blue-ribboned and white fur-lined outfit, offering “a penny bun.” In the second, a girl sits on a rock by the sea, gazing at the seagulls flying about; and another is “the cloud baby gone to sleep” among a bunch of pink roses on a cloud.

HOKANSON, LARS. 1942-2012
FRANCES CICHETTI. Original woodcut, colored in gouache, Cooking with the Dead, cover design for Grateful Dead cookbook (New York: St. Martin’s Press, 1995), 216 x 216 mm, artist’s proof signed and dated by the artists, matted and framed.
The popular cookbook of more than 65 “kynd and caring” vegetarian recipes were aimed toward Deacheds as they pursued their favorite band on the road. The cover art reflects the Sixties Spirit with its bright psychedelic colors and its homage to old fruit labels. Author Zipern spent five years following the Grateful Dead on tour before writing the book. After graduating with a Bachelor’s Degree in Fine Arts from the University of the Arts in Philadelphia in 1967, Hokanson became a successful freelance illustrator well known for his striking woodcuts. He originally teamed up with his wife Lois; and after she died, Hokanson often partnered with artist Cichetti.

FRANCES CICHETTI. Watercolor, gouache and ink, Lion/Lamb, comprising three states: preliminary rough, and finished painting, with printed New Yorker cover, March 18, 1996, 267 x 191 mm; 387 x 244 mm; both paintings signed lower left, matted and framed as a triptych.
A clever trick picture on the old cliché as the lamb emerges from the face of the March lion. The artists submitted their cover concept with several preliminary roughs to The New Yorker art staff and then completed what they thought would be the published art. Instead the art director went with a preliminary similar to this one. The “finished” art is the central panel of this triptych. Hokanson and Cichetti sold a second New Yorker cover later that year.

Italian immigrant John LaGatta (1894-1977) found early success as a commercial artist selling sketches to Life Magazine while still enrolled at the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts (now Parsons School of Design) on scholarship. His knack for drawing women led him to become one of the most successful artists of his time by the 1930s, illustrating advertisements for a wide variety of companies and for magazines such as Saturday Evening Post (painting 22 covers), Ladies’ Home Journal, Cosmopolitan, Woman’s Home Companion, Redbook, McCall’s and Harper’s Bazaar. He was said to have a gift for illustrating the beauty and glamour of women at the same time rendering clothed women to appear as if they were wearing virtually nothing.

Bonhams is pleased to offer a selection of material from throughout his career including work for advertisement and magazine illustration as well lots providing insight into his working methods.

LA GATTER, JOHN. 1894-1977.
Collection of 14 sketches, pencil, pen or conte crayon on tracing paper, 300 x 227 mm., c.1960, some toning, minor creases, a few stray marks, but generally very good.

An interesting look into the working process of a commercial artist as a number of the pieces are most certainly for advertisements. As with most La Gatta work, the focus is almost universally on women.

LEFLER, HEINRICH. 1863-1919.
Watercolor, unpublished illustration of Brünnhilde (Act III) in Richard Wagner's Götterdämmerung, for an unrealized book or calendar, 284 x 213 mm, n.d., matted.

In Act III of Wagner's great opera, Brünnhilde orders a funeral pyre for her dead husband Siegfried whom Hagen has slain with his spear: "Ruhe, ruhe, du Gott!" (Rest, rest, thou God!). The world of the old gods becomes engulfed in flame and flood; and a new one arises out of the tumult through Brünnhilde's undying love of Siegfried. Lefler has captured the deep grief in her eyes at the moment she is about to order that his body be burned.

US$2,000 - 3,000

LEFLER, HEINRICH. 1863-1919.

The Austrian artist, best known for his work with brother-in-law and famous set designer Joseph Urban (1872-1933), produced one masterpiece of German nursery rhyme illustration, Kling Klang Gloria (1907). Evidently he was planning a sequel for several finished watercolors in the same format as this ornate picture of David and Goliath survive. The rather delicate young Hebrew hero confronts a particularly fierce Prussian officer from the eighteenth century court of Frederick the Great.

Watercolor drawing of Toad over message, "Dear Alexandra...," a one-page illustrated autograph letter to a child, 273 x 210 mm, n.d., light crease, framed.

Provenance: Morton Schindel.

WITH: ZEMACH, MARGOT. Mixed media painting of a Russian feast, 229 x 305 mm, inscribed in crayon upper left corner by the artist and her husband and collaborator Harve Zemach: "For Mort with Affection Margot and Harve July, 65";
AND WITH:
UNGERER, TOMI. "Dear Morton...," one-page decorated letter in ink to Morton Schindel with envelope, 298 x 203 mm, n.d., crease; with three Ungerer books, one inscribed to Schindel.

Morton Schindel (1918-2016) founded Weston Woods Studios in 1953, to produce animated films and filmstrips for use in schools. The first of his nearly 500 titles was an adaptation of James Daugherty's Caldecott Honor Book Andy and the Lion (1938) released in 1954; and he tried to film every other Caldecott Medal Winner after that. Lobel, Zemach and Ungerer were just a few of the many other artists with whom he worked; and these tributes to the producer demonstrate the great affection they held for him. For example, Ungerer writes: "Dear Morton...,Just a few lines to say that I do hope that We shall meet eventually. Here or There or Anywhere... In the meantime with my very best and Friendliest whatnots T. Ungere... ei." He appends the note with a little bird laying an egg on the flourish of his signature. Lobel assures a young fan: "...I'm happy to hear that you have been reading and enjoying my Frog and Toad books. Here is a sketch of Toad for you and an [frog] and T[oad] fan club card. Your friend, Arnold Lobel." The fate of the Frog and Toad Fan Club card remains a mystery.

Eighteen hand-colored photocopied prints on tracing paper, complete suite of illustrations (plus two unused) for Little Red Riding Hood (New York: Doubleday, 1991), various sizes, fifteen of the sixteen published works titled, signed and dated (“Beni Montresor 1990”) below the image.

For his retelling of the classic fairy tale, Caldecott Gold Medalist and famed set designer Beni Montresor returned to the original French version immortalized by Charles Perrault, in which the little girl (as well as her grandmother!) gets eaten up by the wolf. But he does provide some hope by having the huntsman from the Grimm Brothers version waiting in the wings for just the right moment to release Red Riding Hood from the beast's warm belly. The Italian artist does not hesitate to show the debonair wolf's swallowing the little girl whole. At least two of the pictures (including the cover design) pay homage to Gustave Doré's famous wood engravings for “Le Petit Chaperon Rouge” in Les Contes de Perrault (1862). Luciano Pavarotti writes in his introduction: “Beni Montresor's interpretation... which will certainly disturb some [people], is the testimony of a totally original vision. It will leave you breathless. Another thing is certain: It will spur you on to seek your own explanation of the mystery of this beautiful, violent tale which has enchanted children the world over for three centuries....” Parents' Choice awarded the book with a 1991 Picture Book Award, a certificate for “Your Amazing Accomplishment,” included here. This suite is evidently the final camera ready art made from photoprints to which Montresor applied watercolor and color pencil to get the precision of line, texture and color he desired in reproduction. Evidently the artist did not have room for two additional pictures of Little Red Riding Hood floating contentedly in the wolf's stomach; both of which are part of this lot.

BARRY MOSER. B. 1940.

BARRY MOSER. B. 1940. Ink and/or pencil on tracing paper, being 9 preliminary drawings for illustrations for Jump! The Adventures of Brer Rabbit (San Diego: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1986), various sizes, each signed with initials, some corner creases.

The Brer Rabbit stories are the most beloved of all American folk tales. However the thick dialect employed by Joel Chandler Harris as “Uncle Remus” in the most famous rendering of these trickster tales has proved to be too difficult (and offensive) for modern readers. Legendary arranger and record producer Van Dyke Parks and Malcolm Jones adapted five in verse for young readers as a record album and a popular picture book illustrated by Barry Moser. School Library Journal called it “certainly the best of all the editions now in print.” These drawings (several of which are highly finished) were the basis for the final watercolors that appeared in the published book.

[POTTER, (HELEN) BEATRIX. 1866-1943.]

Beatrix Potter's retelling of Charles Perrault's "Bluebeard" that she reset in Lancashire as Sister Anne was originally part of The Fairy Caravan (1929), published for the American public only by David McKay. But when the book was thought too long, the story was removed and published separately. It was Potter's last book to be published in her lifetime and the only one she did not illustrate herself. Potter thought she was too old to do the pictures (and she was never good with human figures anyway) so they were provided by prominent book and magazine illustrator and advertising artist Katharine Sturges. Potter so liked the stylish results that she informed her publisher, "Do thank Katharine Sturges from me for interpreting just what I meant!" Sturges was profoundly influenced by Japanese color woodblocks, Chinese painting, Viennese Secessionism and Art Deco. But she is perhaps best remembered today as the mother of Hilary Knight, who illustrated Eloise (1955). See Linder, pp 324-326.

POTTER, (HELEN) BEATRIX. 1866-1943.

12mo. 16 color plates. Original pink boards pictorially stamped in black, some soiling of covers, small crack on front, endpapers mildly foxed, a very good copy.

FIRST EDITION, PRIVATELY PRINTED, in an edition of only 500 copies. This is Beatrix Potter's first book after The Tale of Peter Rabbit (1902); and like its predecessor, it was issued in a small privately printed edition before Frederick Warne & Co. put out a trade edition in October 1903. Potter said The Tailor of Gloucester was her personal favorite of all her books and always preferred the earlier printing. The story was based on a legend about a real tailor that she first heard in the home of a cousin in Gloucester in 1897. She sketched the actual locations of the tale for her illustrations. PROVENSEN, ALICE. B. 1917.
Oil and ink on paper, "Expatriates: Americans Abroad," being an illustration for My Fellow Americans: A Family Album (San Diego: Browndeer Press, 1995), 238 x 584 mm, identified and signed "Alice Provensen" in pencil beneath the image, matted and framed. Provenance: Nancy Willard (gift of the artist).

This painting depicts writers James Baldwin, Ezra Pound, T. S. Eliot, Henry James and Gertrude Stein, painters John Singer Sargent, James McNeill Whistler and Mary Cassatt, actress Grace Kelly and the Duchess of Windsor with chanteuse Josephine Baker floating above in her famous banana skirt. As the clouds above Cassatt in her boat explain, these Americans went to Europe in "pursuit of artistic expression in exotic places" and "the escape from racism." Alice Provensen met her husband Martin (1916-1987) when they were both working in the animation studios in Hollywood—she with Walter Lantz and he with Walt Disney. After they married in 1944, they collaborated on many successful children’s books including the Newberry Medal winner and Caldecott Honor Book A Visit to William Blake’s Inn (1981) by Nancy Willard and the Caldecott Medal Winner The Glorious Flight (1983). Since his death, Alice Provensen has continued to produce distinguished picture books on her own including the patriotic My Fellow Americans.

W. Heath Robinson was one of three brothers who became celebrated English illustrators. “Heath Robinson” (like “Rube Goldberg”) has entered the language to describe any ingenious but impossibly complex mechanical contraption. The most ambitious of the children’s books the famed cartoonist both wrote and illustrated was the whimsical fantasy Bill the Minder. An animated version of the story aired on the PBS children’s program Long Ago and Far Away on November 3, 1990. Many of the originally black-and-white drawings (including “The Merchant’s Wife and the Merchant”) were reworked in watercolor by Robinson himself after publication for sale at exhibition in London.

SENDAK, MAURICE BERNARD. 1928-2012.

Watercolor and ink, “For This New Morning/Father We Thank You,” being an unused illustration for “Prayers for Everyday,” to be included in Childcraft--The How and Why Library (Chicago: Field Enterprises), 216 x 161 mm, identified and signed “Maurice Sendak” in ink on stamped label on verso, matted and framed.

An early full-color illustration to the prayer “Father, We Thank You,” often attributed to Ralph Waldo Emerson. Most of Sendak's work at this time was color separated. Childcraft was a multi-volumed supplement to World Book Encyclopedia similar in content to My Book House. Sendak illustrated two pages of prayers in Poems and Rhymes. Although a self-confessed atheist, Sendak was uncharacteristically tender toward the two devout little boys saying their prayers. The teddy bear on the floor may be a sly homage to E. H. Shepard and his drawing for A. A. Milne's famous children's poem “Vespers” in When We Were Very Young (1924).

Pencil on tracing paper, concept drawing of a baby, a cross older woman and four fairy tale characters for the animated television series Seven Little Monsters, 2000. 229 x 279 mm, signed in pencil on the central left, “Maurice Sendak”, framed.

Seven Little Monsters originated as a Sesame Street short that Sendak wrote and designed. It aired in the second season of the PBS show in 1970-1971; and it was issued as a picture book in 1977. Goldilocks, Snow White and Hansel and Gretel all appear in this concept sketch for the short-lived Seven Little Monsters TV show that ran on PBS for only four seasons from 2000-2004. Sendak was personally involved only in the earliest episodes. Demure Snow White looks like the heroine of Walt Disney’s Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs (1937), one of Sendak’s favorite movies from childhood. The oversized wide-eyed baby and the other three children are typically Sendakian in facial expression and body language.

SENDAK, MAURICE BERNARD. 1928-2012.
Pencil drawing, “Oz the Hundredth Anniversary Celebration,” being a study for the jacket/title page design of the book (Henry Holt and Co., New York, 2000), 304 x 203 mm, pencil on tracing paper, signed “Maurice Sendak” lower right, some faint smudging, matted and framed.

Provenance: purchased from the artist.

Here Sendak pays homage to William Wallace Denslow, the original illustrator of The Wizard of Oz. This was one of just two commissions relating to L. Frank Baum and the Land of Oz that he ever fulfilled. The other was a concept watercolor for Walt Disney’s unsuccessful fantasy film Return to Oz (1985) that was rejected by the studio.

SENDAK, MAURICE BERNARD. 1928-2012.
Pencil on tracing paper, Studies for Bob Blechman's Japanese/German Beer-man, being five preliminary character drawings on one sheet for a character in a beer commercial produced by R. O. Blechman, 1997, 267 x 203 mm, double signed in pencil at top right "Maurice Sendak Oct. '97" and lower right "Maurice Sendak", matted and framed.

Sendak on occasion worked with his friend and fellow illustrator, Emmy Award winning producer and The New Yorker cartoonist Oscar Robert Blechman (b. 1930), most notably on the 1977 Christmas TV special Simple Gifts. Unfortunately the Japanese advertising agency who commissioned the commercial turned down Sendak's concept of the beer-man.

SENDAK, MAURICE BERNARD. 1928-2012.
2 volumes. 8vo. Original gilt stamped brown cloth in their original dust jackets and orange papered slipcase, some soiling and wear and slipcase a bit sunned.

Provenance: D. M. Gibbons estate (pencil note).

WITH: 16 (of 27) large paper proofs of the illustrations, from the limited signed edition, each 213 x 165 mm, each signed in pencil "Maurice Sendak" beneath the image to the right.

SIGNED FIRST TRADE EDITION, inscribed in ink on the half-title page of Vol. I: "Maurice Sendak Jan '74," and including a collection of 16 miscellaneous proofs from the limited edition individually signed by Sendak, outside of the edition. The prints as issued with the portfolio of the deluxe edition were not signed.

Arguably Sendak's masterpiece, his celebrated suite of minutely crosshatched pen-and-ink drawings for The Juniper Tree did perhaps more than any other publication to elevate the famous children's book illustrator to a recognized fine artist. The choice of the tales for interpretation was unconventional. Instead of relying on the "Kleine Ausgabe" that was prepared specifically for juvenile readers, Lore Segal at Sendak's urging returned to the original unexpurgated darker versions of the famous German fairy tales. (The Jarrell translations had originally appeared elsewhere.) His pictures freely borrowed from Albrecht Dürer and other German masters as well as the brother of the Brothers Grimm, Ludwig Emil Grimm. Consequently the illustrations are some of the most powerful, if not the most powerful of Sendak's entire career.

SIS, PETER. B. 1949.
Mixed media, five miniature New Year’s greetings, 1988-1992, each 41 x 51 mm, all but one signed and dated below the painting, matted and framed individually.
Provenance: Morton Schindel.
Czech-born MacArthur Fellow, Hans Christian Andersen Medalist and Caldecott Honor Winner Peter Sís is internationally renowned as a children’s book illustrator, painter, muralist and animator. Perhaps his best known work is the poster for the Oscar Winning Best Picture Amadeus (1984). He is also a gifted miniaturist who supported himself for a time after defecting to America by painting Easter eggs. He presented one to the Clintons in The White House in 1995. For several years he sent these exquisite tiny New Year’s greetings to award winning Weston Woods producer Morton Schindel. The two were planning to do an animated film of the picture book Rainbow Rhino (1987), but it was never made.

STEIG, WILLIAM. 1907-2003.
Original ink drawing, eight caricatures, including self, 178 x 267 mm, signed in ink lower right hand: “Bill Steig,” framed.
Provenance: Morton Schindel (gift from the artist).
AND: Four signed books including The Old Testament Made Easy, Alpha Beta Chowder; Strutters & Fretters, and Happy Birthday, William Steig, all signed by William and Jeanne Steig (Strutters and Fretters signed by William Steig alone).

At age 61, William Steig became in addition to “King of Cartoons” one of America’s greatest children’s book illustrators. His third picture book, Sylvester and the Magic Pebble (1969), won the Caldecott Medal. Like his fellow New Yorker cartoonist Saul Steinberg, Steig was profoundly influenced by Pablo Picasso as seen in this page of lively caricatures. Gene Deitch adapted and directed Sylvester and the Magic Pebble as a Weston Woods animated cartoon; and John Lithgow provided the narration. Steig writes Schindel: “Dear Mort, Thank you for sending me the photos showing ‘progress’ on the SYLVESTER animation. At age 84 I despair of ever seeing the finished animation. Best wishes for 1992! Bill Steig.” The film was finally released in 1993, ten years before Steig’s death.

SZYK, ARTHUR. 1894-1951.

Original gouache, “Polish Pioneers Arriving in Jamestown,” 203 x 152 mm, signed “Arthur Szyk London 1938” lower left, matted and framed.

AN IMAGINARY PORTRAIT OF POLISH-AMERICAN REVOLUTIONARY PATRIOTS, done for the Polish Pavilion of the New York World’s Fair, 1939, from a suite of twenty-three paintings depicting the contribution of Poles to American history. They were reproduced in Krakow in 1939 as a series of postcards, “Twenty Pictures from the Glorious Days of the Polish American Fraternity”, and reissued by P. Malak & Son in Toronto, Canada in 1976 in commemoration of the Bicentennial.

Polish-born artist Arthur Szyk is most celebrated for his anti-Axis caricatures during World War II described as “powerful as a bomb, clear in conception, definite and deadly in [their] execution.” A Jew, he fled to England in 1937 and the British sent him to the United States in 1940 to help sway American public opinion in favor of their war against Hitler. Even Eleanor Roosevelt recognized his importance to the war effort. “This is a personal war of Szyk against Hitler,” she said, “and I do not think that Mr. Szyk will lose this war!” His art is characterized by a jewel-like precision and glowing color reminiscent of medieval hand-illumined manuscripts. He was also an exceptional book illustrator whose works include The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, The Canterbury Tales, The Arabian Nights Entertainments and Andersen’s Fairy Tales. He produced a stunning Haggadah in 1939 that he dedicated to King George VI and The Times called “among the most beautiful books that the hand of man has produced.” He was later a great supporter of the new state of Israel.

SZYK, ARTHUR. 1894-1951.
Original gouache, “The Death of Michael Grabowski During the War for Independence,” 200 x 159 mm, signed “Arthur Szyk 1938” lower left, matted and framed.

A FINE DEPICTION OF A POLISH-AMERICAN SOLDIER IN THE REVOLUTION, from the series, “The Glorious Days of the Polish American Fraternity,” done for the Polish Pavilion of the New York World's Fair, 1939. Szyk first exhibited the suite of twenty-three paintings depicting the contribution of Poles to American history at the Fair, and the paintings were reproduced in Krakow in 1939 as a series of postcards, “Twenty Pictures from the Glorious Days of the Polish American Fraternity”; and reissued by P. Malak & Son in Toronto, Canada in 1976 in commemoration of the Bicentennial.

Gouache and ink on illustration board, “The natives were very obliging,” being an illustration for the Weston Woods video cassette of the book by Jean Fritz, Where Do You Think You’re Going, Christopher Columbus?, 203 x 254 mm, matted and framed; including a fine first edition of the book and a color transparency of the painting. Provenance: Morton Schindel.

WITH: Autograph Letter Signed, 2 pp, 4to, to Carl Best, Weston Woods Studios, April 22, 1991, regarding deteriorating health, in part: “to prove to you how sick I feel, for the first time in forty years I cannot swallow a cocktail... The Marco Polo (the last one I did) is more or less unfinished, I’m afraid.”

Margot Tomes was born into a family of artists. Her uncle was famed modern American painter Guy Pène du Bois and her cousins were illustrator William Pène du Bois and costume design Raoul Pène du Bois. She designed fabric, wallpaper and book covers before becoming one of the finest picture book artists of her generation. Her influences included Maurice Sendak, Beni Montresor and her great friend Edward Gorey. Among her best known illustrations were those for Jean Fritz’s irreverent juvenile biographies of famous American historical figures. Since the book contain color-separated art, Tomes provided new full color pictures for the West Woods video cassette of Where Do You Think You’re Going, Christopher Columbus? in 1982. Less than two months after writing producer Schindel’s wife, she died from pancreatic cancer.

WISEE, KURT. 1887-1974.

WITH: “Boy at Seaside,” pencil studies for The Five Chinese Brothers filmstrip, 1958, 2 pp, each 355 x 241 mm, some creases.

AND: Ink and watercolor on illustration board, being a signed illustrated thank-you note to Mort Schindel, n.d., inscribed “Thank you Dear Morton, for letting us know all about the great leap of yours into Middle Asia. Kindest regards from Kurt & Gertrude Wise.” 152 x 117 mm.

Based on a Chinese legend from the Ming Dynasty, Claire Huchet Bishop and Kurt Wiese’s The Five Chinese Brothers (1938) became one of the most popular American picture books of the 20th century. Although born in Germany, prolific children’s book illustrator Wiese traveled to China in his youth; and his observations there profoundly influenced his work. He was the original illustrator of the American edition of Felix Salten’s Bambi (1928), but his most enduring pictures were drawn for the Freddy the Pig books by Walter R. Brooks. Wiese was considered an expert on Chinese culture and illustrated Marjorie Flack’s The Story about Ping (1933) and his own You Can Write Chinese (1945), named a Caldecott Honor Book, among other Chinese-themed children’s books.

WISEE, KURT. 1887-1974.
Two original drawings, “Grasping a piece of broken tile, he stretched over, pushed at the firebrand... etc.,” being two variants of the same illustration for “Young Fu Defies the Demon” in Elizabeth Foreman Lewis, Young Fu of the Upper Yangtze (Chicago: John C. Winston Co., 1932), each drawing 216 x 178 mm, pen-and-ink, drybrush and pencil on paper, each identified in pencil in the artist’s hand beneath the drawing. Minor soiling and light dampstain. Framed with floating matte.

Young Fu of the Upper Yangtze won the Newbery Medal for former Methodist missionary and teacher Elizabeth Foreman Lewis (1892-1958). The episodic novel derived from her observations while living in China and tells the story of a boy who lives in Chungking (now Chongqing), then the largest city in Szechuan (Sichuan) province and one of the country’s biggest cities. Wiese too had spent time in China and was considered a Chinese expert within the trade. It is not known if these two drawings were preliminary illustrations or intended for a later updated version of the award-winning children’s book. They are not in the style of the much darker, heavier drawings in the published book.

Two original photographs for Lonely Doll, both gelatin silver prints, being: “One Morning at Breakfast,” illustration for The Lonely Doll Learns a Lesson (Random House, 1961), 210 x 210 mm, and “There, There, Said Mr. Bear,” illustration for Holiday for Edith and the Bears (Doubleday, 1958), 270 x 235 mm, each identified and titled in ink on backing, matted and framed.

Dare Wright was a Canadian-born American actress, model and photographer but she is best remembered for her haunting Lonely Doll children’s stories. She both wrote and photographed the nine highly successful books about Edith, a Lenci doll who lived with two teddy bears whom Wright bought at FAO Schwartz in New York. The daughter of a popular portrait painter, Wright modeled her heroine on herself right down to the blond pony tail and circular earrings. The deceptively benign, sometimes surreal photographs continue to inspire a wide variety of interpretations from the intriguing to the absurd. On November 27, 2010, Kate Kellaway in The Guardian named The New York Times Bestseller The Lonely Doll one of The Best Illustrated Children’s Books of all time: “The black-and-white photographs have glamour, mystery and melancholy.” Dare Wright was the subject of Jean Nathan’s critically praised biography The Secret Life of the Lonely Doll (2004).

HESS, VICTOR FRANZ. 1883-1964.

THE 1936 NOBEL PRIZE MEDAL FOR PHYSICS, PRESENTED TO VICTOR FRANZ HESS FOR HIS DISCOVERY OF COSMIC RADIATION. Nobel medal, in gold, 65.8 mm diameter, 206.2 grams. Designed by Erik Lundberg and struck by the Kungliga Mynt och Justeringsverkey (Swedish Royal Mint). Marked on edge "GULD 1936." Obverse with bust of Alfred Nobel facing left, "ALFR. / NOBEL" to left of bust, "NAT. / MDCCC / XXXIII / OB. / MDCCC / XCVI" to right of bust, signed "LINDBERG" at the lower left edge. Reverse features allegorical vignette of Nature in the form of a goddess emerging from the clouds and holding a cornucopia. Her veil is held up by a figure representing the Genius of Science. Legend above the vignette reads "INVENTAS VITAM IUVAT EXCOLUISSE PER ARTES," plaque below vignette reads "V.F. HESS / MCMXXXVI," motto to either side of plaque reads "REG. ACAD. / SCIENT. SUEC." (Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences). Housed in the original diced maroon morocco case, decorated in gilt and lined in velvet and satin. Some shallow surface scratches and scuff marks, one indentation on edge.

WITH: Nobel Prize Diploma, two leaves (each 265 x 366 mm) with calligraphic inscriptions in Swedish in blue and gold, surrounded by a design of columns in white supporting an entablature on either leaf with central medallions bearing the symbols of the Royal Swedish Academy of Science: a star radiating light, in blue and gold on the right leaf, and a farmer planting a sapling below the motto "FÖR EFTERKOMMANDE" (FOR POSTERITY) on the right; both medallions encircled by green wreaths of laurel. Below the text panels are garlands of laurel in green, the whole on a background of crosshatched gold. Signed on the right leaf ("Carl Benedicks") by the President of the Royal Academy, with the signature of the Secretary of the Royal Academy ("Henning Pleyel") lower right. Bound in a navy blue leather portfolio with gilt laurel border decoration and highly stylized initials "VFH" in the center, and "AN (for Alfred Nobel) at each corner. Contained in flannel-lined clamshell case, 310 x 405 mm overall. Light foxing to document; clamshell case with cover detached and missing board on one edge.
THE DISCOVERY OF COSMIC RAYS.

Victor Franz Hess was awarded the 1936 Nobel Prize in Physics for his work conducted between 1911 and 1913 leading to the discovery of cosmic rays. Prevailing thought was that radiation in the atmosphere was being generated from the earth, and would therefore decrease with altitude, but the use of an electroscope at high altitude indicated the exact opposite: radiation was higher in the upper atmosphere. Hess developed more precise equipment to measure the radiation and then ascended in a balloon himself to altitudes as high as 17,500 feet, to take measurements of ionization levels caused by radiation. These observations showed the level of ionization to be twice as high at 5 kilometers than at sea level, indicating that the radiation was coming from outside the earth’s atmosphere. One of these ascents was conducted during a total eclipse of the sun, as well as at night, further proving that the radiation he was measuring was not solar, but originating from the expanse of space. The discovery led to further developments in particle physics, including the discovery of the positron and muon by American physicist Carl David Anderson, shared the 1936 Nobel Prize with Hess. Only in recent years have scientists begun to understand the origin of cosmic radiation, aided in part by NASA’s Fermi Gamma Ray Space Telescope.

Hess was born near Peggau, Austria in 1883, and was educated in Graz, where he graduated from Graz University with a doctorate degree in 1910. At the time of his studies measuring radiation in the atmosphere, he was working at the Vienna Academy of Sciences. He also worked for the U.S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Mines, during the early 1920s. He returned to Austria in 1923, but as his first wife Berta was Jewish, he was dismissed from his position after the Nazi annexation of Austria in 1938. The couple fled to the United States, where Hess joined the faculty of Fordham University in New York. He died in 1964 in Mount Vernon, NY.

AUDUBON, JOHN JAMES. 1785-1851.
AUDUBON, JOHN JAMES. 1785-1851. Ornithological Biography, or an account of the habits of the birds of the United States of America; accompanied by descriptions of the objects represented in the work entitled The Birds of America... Philadelphia: Judah Dobson, agent, and H.H. Porter, 1831.
Volume I only. 8vo (280 x 180 mm). Modern half brown calf over cloth boards, with Prospectus for the elephant folio Birds of America bound in the rear, uniformly browned but fresh throughout; foxing to a few signatures.

The separately-issued text for the elephant folio Birds of America, complete with the rare Prospectus: “a separate American edition of volume I of this famous work” (Mengel/Ellis). The present work proved to be something of a false start: no more volumes were published in Philadelphia; an edition of the second volume was subsequently published in Boston, and the remaining three volumes that completed the work were all printed in Edinburgh, but available in the United States with pasted-on copyright slips. According to Zimmer, “it differs in some particulars from the Edinburgh edition. Some of the wording of the introduction is altered; that of the general text appears the same with minor changes in punctuation and the correction of at least one error... The sixteen pages of advertising at the close of the volume consist of a prospectus of the folio, Birds of America, with a list of the one hundred plates in vol.I of that work and the year of publication of each plate. Extracts from the reviews and a list of [180] subscribers are added.” Wood p 208. Zimmer p 19. cf. Fries Double Elephant Folio, p 389 (the prospectus in the present work appears to conform to Fries’s edition E). LINDEN, JEAN-JULES. 1817-1898.

FIRST EDITION of this important large format work featuring a broad selection of the most beautiful orchids then in cultivation, originating from all the tropical regions of the world. Although the work was a collaborative effort between Linden, G. Luddemann, J.E. Planchon and M.G. Reichenbach, the editorial control remained with Linden. A native of Luxembourg, Linden moved to Belgium in his youth and during his working life was responsible for the importation of over 1,100 different orchid species. He was “An orchid hunter par excellence ... [and] was the first to search the mountain regions diligently for his orchids. In so doing, he was able to obtain many cool-temperature plants for his sponsors in Belgium. After ten years in the western hemisphere, Linden returned to work in Brussels in 1845, where with his son, Lucien, he founded Horticulture Internationale, the first major commercial competitor of the British orchid house Messrs. Sander” (The Orchid Observed no 16). The work is named in honor of J.P. Pescatore of St. Cloud, one of the earliest amateur orchid growers, a client of Linden's, who maintained “la plus riche collection d’Orchidees du continent” at his home the Chateau de la Celle-St.-Cloud. According to Linden's preface, Pescatore's death and subsequent withdrawal of financial support by his executors meant that the publication was unable to continue beyond the present 12 livraisons. RAYNAL, GUILLAUME THOMAS FRANCOIS. 1713-1796.

11 volumes [text: 10 volumes, 8vo (195 x 120 mm); atlas: 4to (260 x 230 mm)]. With 10 engraved frontispieces after Moreau le Jeune, 50 engraved maps by Rigobert Bonne (49 double-page, 1 folding; numbered 1-49, plus 17bis), and 23 letterpress tables (some folding). Contemporary mottled calf, gilt, upper front joint of atlas volume slightly cracked.

FINE SET OF THE FINAL, EXPANDED EDITION OF THIS RADICAL TOUR-DE-FORCE OF GLOBAL COMMERCE AND POLITICS. Including contributions from Diderot and Holbach, among others, previous editions had already appeared in the Index of banned books, and this new edition was more violently radical than any of its predecessors. After its appearance, inevitably a warrant for his arrest was issued, the book publicly burned, and Raynal escaped into exile. Twenty-three of the maps concern America. Sabin 68081. ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY.
56 volumes (volumes I-L in 51 volumes and 5 volumes of indices). Contemporary red/purple half morocco over marbled paper-covered boards, spines gilt.
Provenance: William R. Palmer collection of the Western Historical Society of Cleveland, OH (bookplates to some pastedowns; blind-stamps to some title-pages; ink stamps to some plates and maps).
COMPLETE SET OF ALL PERIODICAL PUBLICATIONS OF THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY 1831-1948, comprising 203 volumes with thousands of plates and maps, many folding. The first 117 years of the Royal Geographical Society saw the search for Franklin’s final Arctic expedition; the South Pole expeditions of Borchgrevink, Drygalski, Nordenskjöld, Scott, Bruce, Shackleton, Charcot, and Amundsen; the African expeditions of Burton, Livingstone, Stanley; the Australian expeditions of Sturt and Burke and Wills; and numerous expeditions to China and Central Asia, including the first surveys of and attempts on Everest. The organ for the first official reports of these journeys of discovery was almost always the papers of the Royal Geographical Society. The official publication of the RGS morphed in various ways before settling down in 1893 as The Geographical Journal; the constituent parts of the present collection are as follows: the complete 1st series of the Journal; the complete 1st series of the Proceedings; the complete 2nd series of the Proceedings; a complete set of the Supplementary Papers; and a complete set of the Geographical Journal up to 1948.

RARE CALCUTTA EDITION WITH ILLUSTRATIONS BY INDIAN ENGRAVERS. An extensive survey of the history, beliefs and topography of Rajasthan, first published in London in 1829-1832. The plates in the present work are adaptations by local engravers of those found in the London edition. A British soldier stationed in Rajasthan, Tod's work drew on local archives, Rajput traditional sources, and monuments such as the Edicts of Asoka found at Junagadh. He returned to England in 1823 with a wealth of material for what became a fundamental study of Rajasthan's historical development.

2 volumes. 4to (245 x 190 mm). Folding map and 152 engraved plates (6 folding), plus duplicates of two plates in vol 1. Contemporary English paneled calf, joints worn; many plates toned and lightly foxed; light dampstain to lower corner of Vol 1 not touching text; minor worming to inner margin of a few signatures in Vol 1 not affecting text or images.
FIRST EDITION IN ENGLISH OF TOURNEFORT’S TRAVELS THROUGH GREECE, THE BLACK SEA AND ASIA MINOR. Tournefort undertook these travels between 1700 and 1702 with a commission from the Comte de Pontchartrain and the sponsorship of Louis XIV. Principally a botanizing expedition (over 1300 specimens were collected), Tournefort travelled through the Greek islands to Constantinople and the borders of the Black Sea, Armenia and Georgia. The plates, after drawings by Aubriet, depict the botany of the regions visited, as well as costume of the inhabitants and views of the principal ports and cities. His work was published in Paris in 1717; the present first edition in English, translated by John Ozell, soon followed. Howgego T58. Not in Blackmer or Atabey.

A Falconer's boy behold and I
I think my falcons would not fly.

The Maids appeared in some such dress
About the time of good Queen Bess
And every morning in the year
They breakfasted on beef and beer.
You'd think their ways and diet queer
My pretty Mayfair damsels dear!

And so accoutred, Bess the Queen
Old rougel and krides might be seen
And after dinner making jest
And dancing to amuse the court.
Alchemy.

Original alchemical manuscript written in German and Latin, ink on paper. 4to. 128 ll. Full calf over board with metal clasps. Prelims and first leaf loose but present, some toning to leaves. Covers detached but present, chipping and loss to head and tail of spine.

Provenance: “Bought at Wagstaffe’s in Brick Lane for ___ 1788 London” manuscript note on rear free endpaper; Bacstrom, Sigismund (c. 1750-1805); Lackington & Co 1805 (“A German M.S. on Alchemy. ‘This Manuscript belonged a 150 years ago to the Prince Elector of Saxony at Dresden, as mentioned in Kunkel von Loewenstein in his Laboratorium Chemicum,’ The above is copied from the list of Mr. Bacstrom’s books, which were purchased by Lackington & Co, 1805” manuscript note on rear free endpaper; Bernard Quaritch, 1922 (Catalogue 366, item 722).

An interesting example of 18th century alchemical writings. The note by Lackington in this volume is misleading. We find no reference to this work in Kunkel von Loewenstein, Laboratorium Chemicum (available online). The manuscript date of 1711 within the text of the manuscript is also an indication that this work did not “belong 150 years ago to the Prince Elector of Saxony.”

CLARENDO, EDWARD, EARL OF. 1609-1674.
3 volumes. Folio (450 x 285 mm). [4], XXIII, [1], 557 pp, [1]; [16], 581 pp, [1]; [24], 603 pp, [23]. With engraved title vignette and portrait frontispiece to each volume. Without Royal Privilege in Vol 1, as issued. Contemporary speckled calf, spines gilt with morocco title labels. Extremities chipped and worn; upper corner of Vol. 2 half-title torn without loss to text.

LARGE PAPER ISSUE, WITH A FINE EARLY IRISH PROVENANCE. A celebrated history of the English Civil War, printed at great expense. A very tall copy, evidently sent to Ireland as soon as it was published: Vol 1 was dispatched by Henry Hyde, 2nd Earl of Clarendon, in 1702; and Vol 2 (and 3?), printed two years later, were sent by Henry’s younger brother, the Earl of Rochester. The recipient was Lucius O’Brien (1675-1717), the son of Sir Donough O’Brien, 1st Baronet of Leaghmenagh (1642-1717), and the father of Sir Edward O’Brien, 2d Baronet (1705-1765). Lucius O’Brien was married to Catherine Keightley, whose aunt was the Duchess of York (the first wife of King James II) and who was a first cousin to both Queen Mary II and Queen Anne. [PETER THE GREAT.]
SHEREMETEV, PETR BORISOVICH. 1713-1788. Pisma Petra Velikago pisaniya k ... Grafu Borisu Petrovichu Sheremetevu [Letters from Peter the Great to ... Count Boris Petrovich Sheremetev]. Moscow: Imperial University, 1774.

FIRST EDITION. The 230 letters that Peter the Great, Tsar of All the Russians, wrote to Count Boris Petrovich Sheremetev (1652–1719) from December 5, 1700 to October 9, 1718 were collected by the latter's son, Count Petr Borisovich Sheremetev. Count Boris Sheremetev was commander of the Russian armies in the Great Northern War (1700-1721) during which St. Petersburg was founded from land seized from Sweden. Although he led the Russian Army to the victory over the Swedes at the Battle of Poltava in 1707, the count was never that close with the monarch. For example, when the Russian forces were sorely defeated at Lewenhaupt, the Tsar angrily chastised his commander about his "inadequate training of the dragoons about which I have spoken many times." But he had a change of heart a few days later and wrote Field Marshall Sheremetev; "Do not be sad about the misfortune you have had, for constant success has brought many people to ruin. Forget it, and try to encourage your men." Count Petr built the magnificent palace at Kuskovo, the summer country house and estate of the Sheremetev family. He served Catherine the Great as a senator and the first elected Marshal of the Nobility. He also wrote Zapiska Puteshestviya Grafa Boris Petrovicha Sheremeteva [Description of the Voyages of Count Boris Petrovich Sheremetev] (1773) about his travels to Cracow, Vienna, Venice, Rome and Malta.

SPORTING: NAKED RACING

Autograph Manuscript, being a catalogue (headed “Calendar”) of 35 nude male races held on Kersal Moor between 1777 and 1811, 24 pp (but 14 pp blanks), ink on lined paper, 208 x 170 mm, c.1824 (from watermark on paper), some soiling to leaves, wear to edges.

Dating back to at least the middle of the 17th century, the odd custom of naked fell running continued through the middle of the 19th century. According to Lancashire novelist Walter Greenwood, the custom was from the ancient Greek, and “so the lasses can way up form”. This small notebook records a series of 35 races between 1777 and 1811, including names of the racers (and nicknames) as well as in most cases, times, distances and amounts wagered, as well as observations on the races. An interesting representation of a strange, but endearing, pastime.

THACKERAY, WILLIAM MAKEPEACE. 1811-1863.

Sketchbook, 41 leaves, 38 pp featuring drawings in pencil, pen and ink, and watercolor, oblong 8vo, London, 1846, with tissues, half calf over boards, housed in a red morocco slipcase decorated in gilt. WITH: 3 ALS of J.F. Dexter to C.L. Price, (5 pp total) pasted to recto and verso of first 3 leaves, June-August, 1893, regarding the sketchbook's history and a 1 p auction listing of the sketchbook. Mild toning to leaves, binding rubbed, slipcase with minor wear.

The correspondence regarding this sketchbook states that these (mostly comic) sketches by Thackeray were accomplished during one of his visits to France. The most notable drawing depicts, in pen and ink, Charles Dickens in costume as Captain Bobadil in Ben Jonson’s play Every Man in His Humor, alongside a canceled study of same; Dickens starred in a benefit production of that play in 1845. Other subjects depicted include: a man admiring himself in a full-length mirror, with (presumably) his tailor, captioned: “Now! That’s what I call the Military Cut”; a thug kicking clean through an old man; an overhead view of a group of women in hoop skirts, seated; a comic marching soldier, captioned “England’s Pride”; mountains; a dog; a cat; a Scotsman in a kilt; a pair of boots; a German soldier; and various other figures and faces. Thackeray also neatly printed out the alphabet in an unidentified font in the back of the sketchbook.

THACKERAY, WILLIAM MAKEPEACE. 1811-1863.

Pen and ink on paper, 7 x 10 ¼ in, 3-panel illustration titled “Good Queen Bess,” n.p., n.d., page toned, abrasion with small loss at lower left corner, ink mildly faded, matted and framed.

This light-hearted cartoon by Thackeray depicts a falconer’s boy, a maid eating, and a caricature of Queen Elizabeth I, each with accompanying poems. Originally created for a projected “Christmas-book of historical verses and drawings,” this drawing was published posthumously by Thackeray’s daughter, Anne Isabelle Thackeray, in The Orphan of Pimlico (1876), a collection of Thackeray’s sketches.

THACKERAY, WILLIAM MAKEPEACE. 1811-1863.

Autograph Letter, 3 pp recto and verso, 4to (conjoining leaves), Hull, England, December 4, 1856, extra-illustrated by the author, leaves toned and folded, some separation at fold and bleed-through from ink, in a double-sided frame.

AN ILLUSTRATED LETTER FROM THACKERAY TO CHARLES DICKENS. Thackeray and Charles Dickens were friends as well as literary rivals. In this letter, Thackeray writes to Dickens in a mock-grandiloquent style, referring to himself as “The Professor,” and ribs Dickens about his upcoming production of Wilkie Collins’ play, The Frozen Deep. In part: “But why should not ELOQUENT INSTRUCTION be no blended with frolic glee on this and ALL occasions? He would suggest that 3 of his POPULAR LECTURES on their late majesties of England (delivered in this and another, newer world he need not say with how much applause) should be delivered before and after the drama and after the farcical entertainment announced in the handbill.” Thackeray closes with a caricature of “The Professor,” his body parts labeled with various virtues: “Genius,” “Eloquence,” “Strength,” etc.

ALGREN, NELSON. 1909-1981.

Box 2: Typed carbon, no credits (probably Odets), 164 pp, n.d., signed “C.K. Feldman” on front wrapper and first blank page, bound in brads in blue wrapper. Labeled “Odets, Believe” on spine. Seven copies of the final draft, no credits (probably Fante and Morris), 186 pp, March 14, 1961, with variations in revised colored pages, bound in brads, most with green wrappers, some annotated.
This massive archive of Feldman's files follows the film's complex screenwriting and filming processes from approximately 1957 until its release and beyond. These include script supervisor "Charlsie" Bryant's heavily annotated continuity script featuring a large attached file of black and white on-set wardrobe and makeup photographs of the film's stars.

The production paperwork present here includes contracts signed by Barbara Stanwyck, Laurence Harvey, and Anne Baxter; Clifford Odets and the other screenwriters; Nelson Algren's contract (unsigned); extensive legal correspondence regarding the budgeting, distribution, retakes, etc.; detailed typed and handwritten letters from the film's production designer, Academy Award®-winner Richard Sylbert; correspondence with Ben Hecht, the film's director Edward Dmytryk, Darryl F. Zanuck, and many others; a scrapbook of the film's press clippings; and more.

Almost from the start, the project was a troubled one. A 1959 letter from co-screenwriter John Fante to Feldman reads: "I could be wrong, but it seems to me Nelson Algren's novel is quite a bad work which by no stretch of the imagination can be spun out into a film... I not only disagree with what [Algren] writes, I hate it, I resent it; I am temperamentally and intellectually opposed to it. This guy writes with bloody fingernails clutching a switch-blade knife. It is a sickening business." Fante goes on to say, "Why waste money trying to put this on film?" adding, "I marvel that a man of your astute perspective, your charm, intelligence and good taste can become involved with such turkeys as these. Your standards are too high for this kind of stuff." Fante's instincts proved correct: according to Feldman's correspondence, their film didn't recoup its investment.

Feldman tailored Walk on the Wild Side as a vehicle for his mistress, co-star Capucine, and the papers here reveal the massive media push he gave her. Present also is a four-page memo from Capucine relating a series of allegedly heated on-set disputes between the actress, Laurence Harvey, and Edward Dmytryk.

Designer Saul Bass's tour-de-force title sequence is arguably the film's highlight. Included is Bass's correspondence regarding the iconic "black cat" titles and an "Advertising and Editorial Art" award certificate Bass received. Composer Elmer Bernstein's title song received an Academy Award® nomination and Brook Benton's recording of it hit the Billboard Hot 100 chart. Benton's and Bernstein's signed contracts are present here, along with Feldman's enthusiastic correspondence about the score.

THE ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT OF “BURY MY HEART AT WOUNDED KNEE.”
Historian Dee Brown’s groundbreaking revisionist history of the encroachment of settlers on Native Americans and their lands in the latter half of the 19th century eventually sold more than five million copies and remained in print for decades. This is the first submission of the book to Brown’s editors, which Brown later had bound for his home library.

7 bound carbon typescripts, comprising: Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee (1970); Action at Beecher Island (1967); Killdeer Mountain (1983); Creek Mary’s Blood (1980); The Gentle Tamers (1958); Hear That Lonesome Whistle Blow: Railroads in the West (1977); and Grierson’s Raid (1954); all 4to, [1954-1983], each annotated in various hands, including Brown’s, Grierson’s Raid with an annotated gelatin silver print bound in depicting a “Map Showing Course of Grierson’s Raid”; all custom bound in black, red, or blue leather gilt. Condition generally good, with tape repair to board of p 1 of The Gentle Tamers and a similar tape repair to p 1 of Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee. Mild paper loss to the lower right corner of p 1 of Hear That Lonesome Whistle Blow. Provenance: estate of Dee Brown.

Southwestern historian “Dee” Brown is best known for his trailblazing perennial bestseller Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee, but he continued to publish fiction and nonfiction for several decades afterwards. This lot features the typesetting copies of the titles mentioned above, some drafts also annotated by Brown himself. Brown wrote many other novels and non-fiction works about the American West, often about the Native American experience; these typescripts are primarily of his non-fiction works, with some fiction (Action at Beecher’s Island, Killdeer Mountain, and the New York Times bestseller, Creek Mary’s Blood).

BURNETT, MURRAY. 1911-1997.
Collection of 25 typed letters signed (primarily as “Murray”) to his future wife Adrienne Bayan, sometimes with autograph annotations, 1-2 pages each, [c.1944-1946], some with creasing, minor toning, a couple small edge tears, but largely very nice condition; WITH: assorted other correspondence including a telegram from Burnett to Bayan, an autograph poem by Burnett, and a series of letters between Bayan and her sister Val, 1 p typed partial manuscript with autograph corrections by Burnett, and 2 pp typed (partial) letters.

After selling the screen rights to his original play, Everybody Comes to Rick’s which would famously be adapted into Casablanca, written with his then wife Joan Alison, Murray Burnett returned to Broadway where he continued to write plays. During the run of their effort Hickory Stick in 1944, he met the young actress Adrienne Bayan and began a relationship. These letters chronicle the beginning of that relationship, as well as his shift into radio. Although they were paid $20,000 for their play, at the time a record for an unproduced script, famously Casablanca went on to become one of the most beloved movies of all time, and in retrospect the two writers received very little recognition. The letters here provide an intimate look at Burnett’s years just after Casablanca, as he finds love, and settles into a radio writing gig, with very little to mention here of his famous play, only in a few references to Alison, but the letters are full of humor and pathos and show a man adapting to love and life.

THE DIVORCÉE.
Mimeographed manuscript, treatment by Nick Grinde and Zelda Sears, continuity by John Meehan, 103 pp, January 16, 1930, “Scripted Okayed by / Mr. Bern. / Jan. 16, 1930” typed to cover, bound in brads in beige wrappers with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Script Department label on cover with “Mr. Mayer” written in pencil in the upper right corner.

L.B. MAYER’S COPY OF THE SCRIPT FOR A NORMA SHEARER HIT. The Divorcée was a hit romantic drama starring Norma Shearer as a wronged wife who sets out to play the field. Based on Ursula Parrott’s spicy 1929 bestseller, Ex-Wife, the film costars Robert Montgomery, Chester Morris, and Conrad Nagel. It marked Shearer’s move away from the more prim, nice-girl roles that had typified her earlier career. Shearer won a Best Actress Academy Award® for The Divorcée. The film also received nominations for Best Screenplay (John Meehan), Best Picture, and Best Director (Robert Z. Leonard).

A large archive of scripts and correspondence, including typed carbon manuscripts of play scripts and treatments, as follows: Wings Over the Sea by Earl Felton and Jack Donner, Story and Rough Continuity by Sheridan Gibney and Felton, October 5, 1933; The World and Little Willie by Gibney and Stanley Roberts, 59 pp, n.d.; and The Islanders, January 1943; mimeographed outlines of Screen Test by Gibney, January 15, 1948, and others.
WITH: Approximately 1000 pp of Gibney family correspondence, typed and autograph, 1930s-1970s; approximately 100 pp of miscellaneous autograph writings by Gibney, 8vo, 1920s-1930s; approximately 100 pp of typed carbon poems and sonnets by Gibney, 4to; papers related to a planned Rudolph Valentino biopic, 1949-1950; various signed correspondence; signed photographs of Gregory Peck and others; approximately 50 Gibney family photographs; two 5 x 7 in signed ("Fred Boissonas") photographic prints by Frederic Boissonas, Paris, France; an Autograph Letter Signed of HELEN HAYS to Gibney, 3 pp on 1 conjoined leaf, 1931.
AND WITH: An archive of miscellaneous materials related to the theatrical career of Gibney's wife MILDRED MCCOY, including 3 Equity contracts, all signed ("David Belasco"), 1929-1930; 2 books signed and inscribed ("David Belasco") about Belasco, and a copy of Debereaü by Sacha Guitry, signed and inscribed ("David Belasco"), contracts, oversize photographs, clippings, and more.

Playwright and screenwriter Sheridan Gibney’s film credits include I am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang (1932) and The Story of Louis Pasteur (1936); he was president of the Screen Writers Guild from 1939-1941 and 1947-1948. Gibney was gray-listed during the HUAC Hollywood "witch hunts." Among the present papers related to that era are two typed carbon letters from Marguerite Courtney, circa 1972, responding to Gibney's comments about the Blacklist in Ark magazine, and a copy of that issue. Gibney’s film work is reflected in a large group of materials related to Anthony Adverse (Warner Brothers, 1936), including a typed carbon manuscript of Gibney's screenplay, dated July 28, 1934; a typed letter signed from Jack Warner, praising the finished film; approximately 9 letters from author Harvey Allen, making script suggestions and later praising the film; and several typed carbon responses from Gibney; also a November 7, 1935 memo from Gibney to Hal Wallis.

JONES, JAMES. 1921-1977.
5 scripts for Some Came Running (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, 1958), as follows:
1. Mimeographed manuscript, synopsis of novel, 41 pp, staple bound, December 18, 1956, blue wrappers with MGM Script Department label on last page, copy # 24, stamped “Vault Copy” on cover, includes one-page synopsis dated January 2, 1957.
3. 2 copies of a mimeographed manuscript, treatment by John Patrick, 110 pp, June 28, 1957, bound light blue wrappers, stamped “VAULT COPY” twice on cover, one copy annotated in pencil.

Based on James Jones’s second novel, Vincente Minnelli’s drama Some Came Running starred Frank Sinatra as Dave Hirsch, a self-destructive writer and World War II veteran who pays a turbulent visit to his Indiana hometown among his dysfunctional family and seedy friends, like gambler Bama Dillert (Dean Martin). The process of condensing and sanitizing Jones’s raunchy 1,266-page book into script form was complex. This five-piece lot thoroughly documents its adaptation to the screen, from studio synopsis form to a preliminary screenplay. The screenplay and one treatment are annotated, possibly by producer Charlie Feldman. The August 10th script resembles the finished film but with some variations. In this version, Sinatra’s character is shot to death and his new wife Ginny (Shirley MacLaine) survives. In the film, Ginny is shot to death and the story closes with her funeral.

KIPLING, RUDYARD. 1886-1936.

LIMITED EDITION OF 525 SETS. Lacking signed Volume I. "During the last years of his life, Kipling was engaged in a complete revision of his works, and the text of the Sussex edition represents his final revised text. Two volumes of uncollected prose and much verse are here collected for the first time ... Unfortunately, a substantial portion of the edition was destroyed in unbound sheets during the bombing of London in 1941" (Stewart, Rudyard Kipling, pp. 577-580).

LEE, HARPER. 1926-2016.

Original green cloth over brown paper boards, dust jacket supplied from a book club edition, soiling to boards, with new endpapers both front and rear, upper corner of last 20 pages chewed.

FIRST EDITION OF HARPER LEE’S ICONIC NOVEL, inscribed by Lee on the (supplied) end paper to Deborah Di Clementi, with an additional note on a post-it (signed “HL”), “I love the Pearl [Oyster Bar!] And you have a pearl of a great price here - about $30,000 worth of book!” Di Clementi’s partner owned the Pearl Oyster Bar in New York, and she kept up a 5-year correspondence with the reclusive author in her later years. See lot 248.

US$3,000 - 5,000

LEE, HARPER. 1926-2016.

Archive of correspondence including 35 autograph letters signed (mostly “Harper”, but a few “H”, “H.L.” or “Nelle Harper”), most 1 or 2 pages, with a few to four pages, and most on her “NHL” monogrammed letterhead, Monroeville and Birmingham, AL, October 6, 2006 - February 12, 2010, to Deborah Di Clementi, a friend in New York, all in very good condition with autograph transmittal envelopes.

A fascinating collection of 32 autograph letters signed, plus 3 Christmas cards signed, by Harper Lee, written between 2006 and 2010, as she was injured and moved from the hospital in Birmingham to assisted living in Monroeville. The letters cover many topics including her health (obviously an over-riding concern at this point), her Presidential Medal of Freedom, the death of Horton Foote, C.S. Lewis and all manner of food, but primarily brownies and seafood, and include a letter from 2008 in which she informs Ms. Di Clementi (who is gay) that she is “not of your persuasion.” A charming, intimate look at the great author’s later years, as seen through the lens of a recently developed friendship with obvious affection, with a rare reference to her sexuality.

LIBERATION OF PARIS.
DORIAN, MAX (DOREAU, BERNARD RENÈ). 1901-1989. Autograph Manuscript, being a journal of events leading up to and following the liberation of Paris, 105 pp recto and verso, small folio (270 x 205 mm), Paris, January 19, 1943-September 12, 1944 with a 2 page (1 sheet) “Conclusion” dated August 28, 1945, in notebook with a few sheets loosely inserted, some faint toning and occasional edgewear, with 2 typed drafts sections of 13 & 14 pp (tears and wrinkles at edges).

WITH: Two folders of material including a scrapbook of newspaper clippings, original photographs, and related ephemera, spanning Dorian's career from 1920s to the 1960s.

EYEWITNESS MANUSCRIPT ACCOUNT OF THE LIBERATION OF PARIS. Dorian’s journal begins in January 1943 with the city under German occupation and continues into the months following its liberation. The tone of the entries focuses mainly on the experience of daily life in the occupied city, the various news reports and rumors circulating, and the city's ability to function in the face of rationing, etc. The nearly daily entries during August 1944 recount the increasing excitement in the city following reports of Allied victories in Normandy, leading up the siege of August 19-25 and the final surrender of the city on the morning of the 25th.

Excerpt, in translation: [Tuesday, 15th August]: “Are we close to peace and is peace ready for us? We wait to hear something on the radio this evening. We live only for the radio, and we only get her once a night. We didn’t manage to tune into anything at 5:30 this morning other than the ‘Voice of America’ saying useless things about subjects we aren’t interested in. It’s still very hot. Stormy. Pretty frequent bombs in the distance, some alerts ... 22:45 – News of the landing confirmed by Benzzeville. The operation is being conducted by mostly French troops under the command (why?) of Sir Maitland Wilson ... [Wednesday morning]: From tomorrow, it seems that bread rations will be reduced to 100 grams. Police agents are almost all joining the underground, and the gendarmerie are doing the same.

MAGIC: HOWARD THURSTON.
Thurston, Master Magician: Million Dollar Mystery, Europe's Greatest Sensation, Wonder Show of the Universe. Cleveland: Otis Lithograph Co., [c.1929].
One sheet (1031 x 685 mm), framed. Not examined out of frame, appears excellent.
Provenance: Phil Temple (stamp to backing board).
Features Thurston performing the "Million Dollar Mystery," which was an illusion for which he bought the American rights from Walter Jean and consisted of a small, isolated box which was elevated in the middle of the stage and from which as many objects, animals or people appeared as the Magician wanted. It was said that the illusion was such a spectacle that even those who knew how it was done were captivated.

MAGIC: CARTER THE GREAT.

Carter the Great Sweeps the Secrets of the Sphinx and Marvels of the Tomb of Old King Tut to the Modern World. Cleveland: Otis Lithograph Co., [c.1920]. One sheet (1024 x 675 mm), framed, not examined out of framed, appears excellent.

Provenance: Phil Temple (sticker and stamp to backing board).

American-born Charles Joseph Carter (1874-1936) achieved his greatest fame abroad with tricks such as "cheating the gallow" wherein he disappeared just as came to the end of a hangman's noose, making an elephant disappear and sawing a woman in half. The above poster depicts Carter on camelback, the devil with pitchfork sitting behind him, urging Carter on. The Sphinx and one of the Great Pyramids are to the left, below a camel driver is chased by 2 demons and a ghoul.

MAUGHAM, SOMERSET. 1874-1965.

2 Documents Signed ("W. Somerset Maugham"), typed carbons, 4 pp and 15 pp, 4to, New York, June 12 and June 29, 1944, assigning the film rights to The Razor's Edge to Edward L. Alperson, earlier document housed in blue wrappers, later document stapled to upper cover, some thumbing to leaves, corners bumped. WITH: 5 Documents Signed of producer Charles K. Feldman, typescript and typed carbons, 18 pp, 4to, New York, July 6, 1944 to September 27, 1945, regarding the continuing assignment of the novel's film rights, many housed in blue and yellow wrappers, mild thumbing throughout. AND WITH: related correspondence, including interoffice memos, regarding the complicated financial negotiations leading up to the production of the film, plus another group of correspondence, August-September 1946, congratulating director Edmund Goulding on the success of the film.

Published in 1944 but set in the post-WWI years (through the crash of 1929), The Razor's Edge explores one veteran's search for enlightenment and the effect his journey has on the people around him. The novel was a critical success upon publication and the film rights were snapped up by Edward L. Alperson (1895-1969), the former head of Grand National pictures who reinvented himself as an independent producer after the studio's collapse. Alperson immediately flipped the film rights to Charlie Feldman, who shepherded the project over to Twentieth Century-Fox. This lot features the two original contracts between Maugham and Alperson, Alperson's two agreements with Feldman (July and November 1944), and Feldman's two agreements with Twentieth Century-Fox, November 1944 and August 1945. A final document between Feldman and Alperson seems to have Feldman surrendering his rights in the project as of that date. The other material fleshes out the machinations between Feldman and the studio that led to the final agreement.

The Circle. Mimeographed Manuscript (stencil duplicator), 119 pp, 4to, [Culver City], January 22, 1925, being the silent screen adaptation of Maugham's 1921 stage play, bound with brads, housed in golden MGM wrappers with label and typed receipt to upper cover, stamped "file copy," wrapper edges with chipping and loss. ---. Mimeographed Manuscript, 96 pp, 4to, [Culver City, CA], December 27, 1929, being the talking adaptation of the Maugham play, bound with brads in golden MGM wrappers with label to upper cover, stamped "file copy," covers rough at edges and thumbed, interior pages mildly toned.

Maugham's 1921 stage play cast a jaundiced eye at long-term relationships, with every wife in the aristocratic circle desiring to leave her husband for another. The 1925 silent version was directed by Frank Borsage; the 1930 talkie version was directed by David Burton.

POSSSESSED, 1931.
A group of five scripts, various post-production versions, of the Joan Crawford film Possessed (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, 1931), as follows:
2. Dialogue cutting continuity. Mimeographed manuscript, 70 pp, broken down into sections by reel number, November 7, 1931, bound in brads in beige wrappers. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Script Department label on cover stamped “FILE COPY.” Includes dialogue and basic shot descriptions for use by the film’s editor.
3. Superimposed title continuity. Mimeographed manuscript, 52 pp, broken down into sections by reel number, February 13, 1932, bound in brads in beige wrappers, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Script Department label on cover, stamped “FILE COPY” three times on cover and label. The first page indicates that this is a “complete list of the titles superimposed onto the American sound version for ‘Possessed’ for the ‘Special Foreign Version.’”
4. Two copies of the British release dialogue cutting continuity. Mimeographed manuscripts, 68 pp, broken down into sections by reel number, April 3, 1933, bound in brads in beige wrappers. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Script Department label on both scripts’ covers; one is dated April 3, 1933. With three blue memos and two Customs declaration forms for the English Dialogue Cutting, continuities, c. April, 1933.

A series of screenplays from Possessed for use in editing the film for its American and foreign releases. Britain, among other countries, had different censorship laws than America which called for reediting new versions of films to suit its code. Director Clarence Brown’s Pre-Code romantic drama Possessed marked the third of eight films to star Joan Crawford and Clark Gable. The film (not to be confused with Crawford’s unrelated 1947 film of the same title) was based on Edgar Selwyn’s Broadway play The Mirage.

Mimeographed manuscript, screenplay of Shampoo by Robert Towne and Warren Beatty, 149 pp, title page undated but with blue and pink revisions pages dated March 4 to May 29, 1974 bound in, with 20 additional pages of production materials with labels on tabs, including handwritten daily shooting breakdown graphs (labeled “Slates”), a shooting schedule, staff/crew contact list, and a locations list; the entire script heavily annotated throughout by Rebner. With a group of folded applications for the Script Supervisors’ Qualifications Committee, on which Carpenter served c.1975, laid in.

Script supervisor Meta Carpenter Rebner’s densely annotated script of Shampoo offers an orderly, thoroughly detailed production record. Carpenter notes any dialogue changes, continuity points, and breaks down each day’s shooting in handwritten graphs on the versos of the script pages.

Shampoo starred co-screenwriter/producer Warren Beatty as an amorous Beverly Hills hairdresser dealing with assorted sexual entanglements in 1968 Beverly Hills. Julie Christie and Goldie Hawn costarred along with Lee Grant, who won an Academy Award® for Best Supporting Actress. The film received several Academy Award® nominations, including Best Screenplay (Towne and Beatty), Best Supporting Actor (Jack Warden), and Best Art Direction (Richard Sylbert, W. Stewart Campbell, George Gaines), as well as several Golden Globe nominations.

WILLIAMS, THOMAS LANIER ("TENNESSEE WILLIAMS"). 1911-1983.

Producer Charles K. Feldman's file on the production of The Glass Menagerie (Warner Bros., 1950), including: Typed Letter Signed ("Tennessee Williams"), additionally annotated in blue ink, 2 pp, 4to, n.p., May 31, 1949, to Jerry Walk and Charles Feldman, criticizing the current state of the screenplay, "this 'property' has every chance of becoming a really great picture which would surpass its dimensions as a play. However the basic qualities of the play must be kept if it is going to come off successfully on the screen."

Typed Letter Signed ("Tennessee"), 1 p, 4to, n.p., August 5, 1949, to Irving Rapper, sending "warehouse sequence" for review.

A series of typed carbons, labeled "New material—Tennessee Williams," as follows:
- "Dance Hall and Alley Sequence" 4 pp
- "Warehouse Sequence" 4 pp
- "Business College Sequence" 13 pp
- "Movie Sequence" 3 pp
- "Dissolve to the Spider Web" 2 pp
- "Department Store Sequence" 6 pp
- and "Ending" 4 pp

With typed carbon duplicates of each, 4 copies of "The Glass Menagerie (Changes, revisions etc. by Tennessee Williams)," typescript and typed carbons, each 14 pp, containing the "Glass Shop," "Picnic" and ending sequences.

TLS of Williams, 1 p, 8vo, Los Angeles, n.d. (but 1950), on Hotel Bel-Air stationery, endorsing the film version of his play.

8 scripts of The Glass Menagerie, typed and mimeographed, including two drafts of the original play script, and 6 complete drafts of the film script in its various versions, 1945-1949, together with 3 partial drafts.

Typed Carbon, draft of agreement between Feldman and Warner Bros. to produce the film version of The Glass Menagerie, 5 pp, Beverly Hills, February 1949, with 2 pp of typed carbon notes from Feldman’s attorney reviewing the proposed agreement, noting places where Feldman should push for edits.

Plus related documents and correspondence from Feldman's files, including memos related to script development and casting, production budgets, and distribution.

PRODUCER’S FILE ON THE GLASS MENAGERIE, CONTAINING SCRIPT PAGES FOR NEW SCENES BY TENNESSEE WILLIAMS.

To a modern audience, The Glass Menagerie seems a quaintly simple story of one unhappy family trapped by poverty and divergent desires. At the time of its debut, however, it was wildly experimental, with its blurring of past and present, use of direct address, and incorporation of screen images onstage (edited out of the final Broadway production). After a sensational run in Chicago, The Glass Menagerie quickly moved to Broadway where it garnered world-wide interest; not surprisingly, Hollywood soon came calling. Producer Charles Feldman secured the rights to the film in 1946, but it took four years to bring the play to the screen. Feldman’s dream cast included Ethel Barrymore, Montgomery Clift, and Gene Tierney, but he settled for Jane Wyman, Kirk Douglas, and Gertrude Lawrence. Perhaps one of the biggest hurdles to adaptation was the play's downbeat ending, where a frustrated Tom abandons his mother and sister to disappointment, poverty and illness. Feldman hired Williams and at least three other writers—Norman Conwin, Peter Beres, and Isabel Moore—and the various drafts present here reveal the struggle to open the play up and create a more upbeat ending.

Most significantly, this archive contains new material written by Williams, some of which made it into the final version, like the warehouse and dance hall sequences, and others, like the "glass show" film-within-a-film (which introduces a second suitor for Laura) which did not. As he does in the play version, Williams submits a note with his added scenes: "My intention is to use this as a little play within a play. It has three little acts. There will be a suggestion of magic or mysticism in my treatment of this material. It (the shop) will have theme music like the music used in the play—an exotic, somewhat Oriental, tinkling music, a misty, suffused brightness, a look of enchantment." Williams goes on to justify the new character Jack Stone, a suitor for Laura, who has a similar physical defect to her. "Her final recognition of him as one who has gone through the same torments of handicapped singularity that she has will touch and move her more profoundly than anything else could. I think if you examine these values sympathetically you will agree with me."

WODEHOUSE, P.G. 1881-1975.

Typed carbon, screen treatment titled Crown Prince Josephine, 110 pp, 4to, August 16, 1932, bound in blue wrappers stamped “Second Temporary Complete.” WITH: Crown Prince Josephine. Mimeographed manuscript from an original story by Hans Kraly, dialogue continuity by Gene Markey, 110 pp, August 9, 1930, bound in brads in blue wrapper, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Script Department label on cover. Remembered primarily for his many novels, relatively few films were made from the screenplays that Wodehouse contributed to during his well-paid sojourns at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in the 1930s. Crown Prince Josephine was one such screenplay, although the finished film, Rosalie (1937), differed significantly. M-G-M assigned Wodehouse to adapt Rosalie, a hit stage musical featuring his and Ira Gershwin’s lyrics. He worked on the project at length, including writing an unpublished novelette version. Eventually, Wodehouse’s treatment and script were changed greatly, and the musical’s songs were replaced by Cole Porter numbers. The film’s listed screenwriters are Frances Marion and Rosalie’s playwrights William Anthony McGuire and Guy Bolton; Wodehouse is uncredited.

AMERICAN REVOLUTION.
A collection of 118 manuscript receipts, pay orders, and promissory notes from the state of Connecticut, signed by state treasury or pay-table officials, each 1 p, 1777-1783, with one dated 1760, most docketed on verso, condition varies, but primarily in very good condition, with folds, a few with significant tears.

An interesting assortment of revolutionary and federal period manuscript documents, relating to provisions, upkeep, and pay for the Continental Army, including everything from shirts to cattle, and sheep to saltpeter. Many are accomplished in the name of Connecticut state treasurer John Lawrence and signed by important officials of the new republic, including Oliver Wolcott, Jr (the second Treasury Secretary of the United States, after Alexander Hamilton), Fenn Wadsworth, William Moseley, Eleazar Wales, and many by (or to) Ralph Pomeroy. Includes two disability documents, certifying half-pay to war veterans rendered “unable to do business equal for his maintenance, and that he is entitled to all the rewards provided for those that suffer in like circumstances”. A fascinating look at the fabric of the revolutionary economy and the disbursement system of supplies and services needed for the Continental Army in Connecticut.

BASEBALL: COLORED WORLD SERIES.

Original mammoth panoramic photograph of the first Negro Leagues World Series in 1924, 33” x 7” inches on two contiguous sheets, each 16 3/4, silver gelatin print on matte paper, titled in the plate, “Opening Game, October 11, 1924. Kansas City, MO/ Batteries for the Opening Game at Kansas City/ Hilldale - Winters & Santop Monarchs - Rogan and Duncan”, some browning to image, particularly at the margins, and with minor creasing primarily at the junction of the two sheets, framed.

A rare, mammoth panoramic photograph taken just before the opening game of the 1924 Negro Leagues World Series, featuring both teams lined up on the field with coaches and umpires, and the full crowd in the background. Some of the most important players in the history of the game are featured, with each one’s name engraved in the plate beneath their feet.

In 1924, in what may have been the most dramatic world series in the history of all of baseball, the Kansas City Monarchs bested Hilldale in 10 games (game 4 was a 13-inning tie) in the first ever Negro League World Series. The founding father of black baseball, and president of the Negro National League, “Rube” Foster and rival Ed Bolden of the Eastern Negro League put aside their differences and agreed to a best of nine series to determine an overall Negro Leagues Champion. Played over three weeks in four different cities, this inaugural World Series featured five future Hall of Famers including Bullet Joe Rogan, Biz Mackey, Judy Johnson, Louis Santop, and Jose Mendez.

GARFIELD, JAMES A. 1831-1881.
Document Signed twice ("J.A. Garfield" and "James A. Garfield") as President, partially printed and accomplished in manuscript, 2 pp, large folio (14 x 25 ½ in), Washington, DC, April 23, 1881, being Garfield’s application for life insurance as President of the United States, issued by the New York Life Insurance Company, Garfield signature clipped and reinstated with cello tape to verso, toning, folds, wrinkles. Framed with a 2 x 4 in silver gelatin print portrait of Garfield with a Meserve collection stamp to verso.
GARFIELD APPLIES FOR LIFE INSURANCE 3 MONTHS BEFORE HE IS ASSASSINATED. In this document James Garfield takes out a $25,000 life insurance policy, on which, the notations tell us, the company paid $15,292 just months later when he died from his wounds suffered at the hands of an assassin. The application tells us that Garfield, who lists his occupation as President of the United States of America, is vaccinated, sober and temperate, and does not suffer from dyspepsia or dysentery. His medical history tells us that “during the war [Garfield] had diarrhea for 9 months,” and also that he suffers from piles. Oddly, the signature at the bottom right of the recto was clipped and then taped back together; the signature on the verso, which is his full name, is complete.

JEFFERSON, THOMAS. 1743-1826.
Autograph Letter Signed ("Th. Jefferson"), to Gouverneur Morris,
1 p, bifolium, 4to, Philadelphia, April 29, 1792, inquiring after a former cook in France, to arrange employment in Monticello, and apologizing for troubling him with such a trivial matter, with Morris's note to the verso of last leaf, paper loss to fore-edge of cover sheet from seal removal.
Provenance : by descent to the present owner.

Thomas Jefferson writes to Morris, who is in Paris as the Minister Plenipotentiary to France, enlisting his assistance in luring a former kitchen aid in Paris to Monticello ("Henri by name"), and enclosing a letter (not present) for Morris to deliver in that regard. He notes,
"There is a possibility he may be married," but somewhat stingily adds that he would not wish to bear the burden of her passage as well, so maybe the would-be cook could pay that himself. An interesting, personal, and unpublished letter between two of the most important statesmen of the Revolution.

LAFAYETTE, GILBERT DU MOTIER, MARQUIS DE. 1757-1834.
Autograph Letter Signed ("Lafayette") to Gouverneur Morris, 2 pp, Paris, "beginning of Feb, or rather 31 Jan, 1790", mostly in a secretarial hand conveying a series of important questions from the National Assembly on establishing, and maintaining an army, followed by a personal note to Morris, and with a note to verso of the 2nd bifolium in Morris's hand, light soiling, folds.
Provenance: by descent to the present owner.

IMPORTANT AND UNPUBLISHED LAFAYETTE LETTER TO GOVERNEUR MORRIS, being a series of pressing questions from the French National Assembly, executed in a secretarial hand, primarily on the raising and maintaining of an army in the service of the king, noting that he would like to see the king with the executive power, without compromising public liberty. The Assembly's questions are written along the right half of the sheet, and Lafayette requests that Morris send his ideas on the other half of the sheet, before adding, in English: "I beg your pardon my dear friend for the trouble I give you, we want very much your opinion on these heads, Bonjour, Lafayette," before adding, "Do let me know what they do in England with respect to all this."

Morris has noted on the verso of the leaf the approximate date, and
"Monsieur de Lafayette on the proper constitution of an army. - note
I answered verbally being too busy to write especially on a subject of such extensive magnitude."

A fascinating look at Lafayette and the Assembly's state of mind, as well as the American role and influence, during the chaotic days in Paris at the doorstep of the Revolution. Morris was in Paris as a businessman from 1889, before becoming the Minister Plenipotentiary to France in 1792. On the 24th of January 1790, Morris had written to Washington, "The King is in Effect a Prisoner at Paris, and obeys entirely the national Assembly" ("To George Washington from Gouverneur Morris, 24 January 1790," Founders Online, National Archives).

LOUIS-PHILIPPE, DUC D'ORLEANS. 1773-1850.

Written in August 1799, after the Duc and his brothers had made it as far as Cuba, and been returned to American shores, this is a farewell letter to Gouverneur Morris, as the brothers had once again arranged passage to England.

Louis-Philippe D’Orleans, future King of the French (Louis-Philippe I, 1830-1848), spent 21 years in exile after the execution of his father, Louis Philippe, Duke of Orleans, called Philippe Egalite. Gouverneur Morris, Minister Plenipotentiary to France during the revolution, provided great support, financial and otherwise, to the young Duc d’Orleans, and to his siblings, through the early years of exile, and during their time in the United States.

MCKENNEY, THOMAS L. 1785-1859, AND JAMES HALL. 1793-1868.

3 volumes. Folio (515 x 365 mm). Parts 14-16 of Vol 2 bound at start of Vol 3 and with additional Vol 2 title-page. 4, 204, [1]; [2], 162; [6], [163]-237, [1 blank], 196, [2] pp. With 120 hand-colored lithographed plates, tissue guards, 1 page of lithographed maps (top map slightly trimmed), and 17 pp of subscribers' signatures. Contemporary burgundy half morocco gilt, spines gilt. Frontispiece and pp 3-4 in vol 1 toned, scattered other toning and a very few marginal foxmarks to text leaves; most plates with mild offsetting from text; wear at spine ends and corners, joints rubbed, spines darkened; overall exceptionally fresh and original.

Provenance: Samuel Appleton, 1766-1853 (armorial bookplates).

FINE AND UNSOPHISTICATED SUBSCRIBER'S COPY IN EARLY STATE. Title pages for all 3 volumes are State A, with an additional State B title present for Vol 2. Vol 1 has the War Dance plate in State A, the Red Jacket plate in State C, and p 3 in second printing with footnote present alluding to the previous error. Samuel Appleton was a self-made merchant born in New Hampshire and a notable philanthropist. He is listed as a subscriber from Massachusetts on the verso of the first leaf of subscribers' facsimile signatures.

Soon after Thomas L. McKenney was appointed Superintendent of Indian Trade in 1816, he struck upon the idea of creating an archive to preserve the artifacts, implements, and history of the Native Americans. The Archives of the American Indian became the first national collection in Washington and were curated with great care by McKenney through his tenure as Superintendent and also when he served as the first head of the Bureau of Indian Affairs beginning in 1824. Artist Charles Bird King arrived in town in 1822 and, during a visit to his studio, McKenney was inspired to add portraits to the archives. King would, for the following twenty years, capture many of the visiting Indian dignitaries, as well as make copies of watercolors created in the field by the less able James Otto Lewis. Many saw the great value in preserving what was already known to be a vanishing race, but others in government criticized the expenses incurred. The visiting Indian delegations who had come to Washington to meet with the “Great Father” (their name for the president) would inevitably tour the Indian gallery, which was housed in the War Department building, and were generally impressed, many requesting that their portrait be painted and added to the collection. This seemed to help smooth relations during the often tense treaty negotiations.
McKenney was preparing to publish a collection of the Indian portraits when he lost his position at the Bureau during Andrew Jackson's house cleaning in 1830. This seemed like an omen, as many other setbacks befell the project: publishers went bankrupt, investors dropped out, historical information became unobtainable, and expenses soared. McKenney finally enlisted Ohio jurist and writer James Hall to assist with the project, making him a partner. Hall was able to complete the individual biographies of each subject and put the finishing touches on the general history.

Six years passed between the original prospectus and the issue of the first part. In that time, James Otto Lewis, who was likely bitter that he would receive no credit for the King-reworked portraits that he sent to the Archives, beat McKenney to the market with his own Aboriginal Port-Folio in 1835. Unfortunately for Lewis, the illustrations were of inferior quality and very few of its later numbers were ever completed. McKenney and Hall's History of the Indian Tribes of North America, on the other hand, was a resounding artistic success. The lithographs were of such high quality, comparable to the best work from Europe, that John James Audubon commissioned the lithographer James T. Bowen to provide illustrations for a revised edition of his Birds of America. Indian Tribes wasn't a financial success, however, for its high price prohibited all but the wealthy and public libraries from subscribing to it. This and the depression after the panic of 1837 both contributed to the work going through several publishers and lithographers before its completion.

King's original paintings were eventually transferred to the Smithsonian Institute, where most of them perished in the January 1865 fire. A number of the paintings exist in the form of contemporary copies made by King and his students, but the present work is by far the most complete record of this important collection.

MCKINLEY, WILLIAM. 1843-1901.

Document Signed twice ("William McKinley"), partially printed and accomplished in the hand of McKinley and one other, 2 pp recto and verso, large folio (13 x 22 in), Canton, Ohio, July 30, 1896, being a "Medical Examiner Questionnaire" accompanying a New-York Life Insurance Company application, some toning and wrinkling, 1 in tear at right center fold, signature smudged. Framed with 3 x 4 in gelatin silver print portrait of a seated McKinley, Meserve Collection stamp to verso.

McKinley fills out this medical questionnaire a little more than a month after he secured the Republican Party's nomination for President. He answers "no" to most of the questions about disease, and gives a fairly detailed description of the mortality of family members, some of whom died of old age, others of Typhoid or a "violent fever." Reelected on March 4, 1901, McKinley was mortally wounded by an assassin on September 5th of that year and died 8 days later.

MORRIS, GOVERNEUR. 1752-1816.

Autograph Letter Signed ("Gouv Morris"), 1 p, 82 x 203 mm, Morrisania, 18th August 1814, to Mr Cornell (a tradesman), about an error in a bill, light foxing, wear at corners.

Provenance: by descent to the present owner.

A short financial note written from Morris' vast estate in what is now the Bronx correcting an account in his favor for a purchase of limestone. Morris was among other things, the assistant Superintendent of Finances for the Continental Army, signer of the Articles of Confederation, the head of the Erie Canal Commission, and, most famously, the author of the Preamble of the Constitution, and the Constitution's most prominent draftsman, later referred to as the "Penman of the Constitution."

NEW YORK CITY: SAINT NICHOLAS CLUB.
2 Printed Broadsides Signed (both "P.G. Stuyvesant" and "Hamilton Fish"), accomplished in manuscript, folio (582 x 458 mm), New York City, February 28, 1835, being inaugural certificates of membership to the Saint Nicholas Club of New York City, each folded twice, with some browning, tears to the edges and at the folds, with small chip missing from the bottom corner of one document.

The Saint Nicholas Club of the City of New York was formally founded on February 28th, 1835, the first full meeting of the society. The new members gathered at Washington Hall, and elected officers included Peter G. Stuyvesant, Washington Irving, Peter Schermerhorn, and Hamilton Fish, among others. The mission of the society, formed of the oldest New York families, was to preserve the history, settlement, and manners relating to the City of New York, and to encourage social intercourse among its native inhabitants. These two broadsides were issued in conjunction with that first meeting on February 28th, to original members Abraham R. Lawrence and John L. Lawrence, rare reminders of one of New York City’s oldest and most distinguished private clubs.

The following lots come from the collection of Nancy Clark Reynolds, who served as assistant press secretary to Ronald Reagan during his governorship of California (1967-1975), then for two years as his special assistant. When Reagan was elected president in 1980 he recruited Reynolds—who had become a well-known Washington lobbyist—to join his White House transition team (as Reynolds explained in a Washingtonian profile in 2007, “I was the only one in Washington who knew the Reagans and everybody in the Reagan camp”), and she remained a valued friend and advisor throughout his two presidential terms and beyond. Reagan appointed Reynolds US representative to the Commission on the Status of Women of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations in September of 1981.

REAGAN, RONALD. 1911-2004.
A group of three handwritten letters from California school children to Governor Ronald Reagan, 3 pp, 4to, California, February 1967, with holograph notes by Reagan, docketed, original transmittal envelopes stapled to letters.

REAGAN RESPONDS TO INQUIRIES FROM CHILDREN. Governor Reagan offers responses in the margins of three separate letters from California school children. In the first a young student writes that he “would like to know on [sic] that special tax because my mother is really going to be hard because she is just a school nurse and my dad is dead and my mother doesn’t get much money,” to which Reagan instructs, “Tell him we tried to work the tax program out so it wouldn’t be hard on people like his mother and we think it will be alright.” In the second letter a fourth grader expresses her concerns about paying for college: “I know that the rich people can pay tuition, and the poor people will get scholarships. But ... where do I stand? ... I am one of a lot of smart people, but I won’t be for long if I can’t go to college.” Reagan responds: “Tell her about the scholarships.” In the third a child chastises Reagan for cutting the budget and making “people pay to get into college, my mother goes to college and pretty soon she was going to transfer to Cal but you made people pay to get in ... and now she can’t. Do you know how I know? Because I read the papers. And listen to the radio. Write back PLEASE!!!” Reagan responds: “I didn’t do it.”
The lot also includes a two page letter to a young girl explaining that taking care of a horse involves a lot of responsibility, suggesting that she learn to ride and care for horses at a local stable, and recalling that “in the cavalry (which is where I learned to ride) you weren’t assigned a single horse of your own until you’d learned to ride on many different horses.”

[REAGAN, RONALD. 1911-2004.]
A group of 27 index cards, 6 x 4 inches, bearing typed shorthand notes for a speech delivered by Governor Reagan at the California Publisher’s Association annual Governor’s Banquet, St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, February 9, 1973, manuscript notes on verso of first card in a secretarial hand, underlining in blue ink on each card. WITH: 19 additional index cards with shorthand notes in a secretarial hand, some with typed notes on verso, being fragments of unidentified speeches from the same era as above.

A set of cards capturing in shorthand remarks made by Governor Reagan to the California Publisher’s Association in advance of a Q&A session. The remarks pertain largely to taxes and the state budget: “2 REALY UNDRSTND Y..LEGIS IS NOW TALK’G ABT CUT’G TXS INSTED..RAIS’G THEM, U HV 2 GO BCK A COUPLE..YRS 2 A TIME WHIN R WF & MEDI-CAL COSTS WERE GO’G UP 3 X AS FAST AS R REVNS.” Etc.

19 additional cards comprise fragments of other speeches and include some ideologically charged moments: “THY [Democrats] DECLARE WAR..POV[ERTY]..+..COULDN’T WIN THT. ONE EITHER..SM. HOW..MYTH..GAIND WD ACCEPTNC. THT. DEMOS..PARTY. GOOD TMS + PROSP. MNY Y[OUNG]..PEOPLE]..BN. SPOON FED..MYTH..TOO MNY. SOC. COURSES.” Occasionally they veer into the bizarre: “THOS WHO SUDDNLY LOOK / SURPRISED..LIK..CUDDLY / PLAYGRL STNDNG OVR..BFS. / BODY SQUEALING- ‘I / DIDN’T KNOW... GUN../ LOADED.” A curious relic of the mechanisms of ideology and state power.

ROGERS, ROBERT. 1731-1795.
A Concise Account of America: containing a description of several British colonies on that continent... Also of the interior, or westerly parts of the country, upon the rivers St. Laurence [sic], the Mississippi [sic], Christino, and the Great Lakes. To which is subjoined, an account of the several nations and tribes of Indians residing in those parts. London: printed for the Author, and sold by J. Millan, 1765. 8vo. (210 x 125 mm). vii, [1], 264 pp. Later half calf over marbled boards.

FIRST EDITION OF ONE “OF THE MOST ACCURATE CONTEMPORARY ACCOUNTS OF THE INTERIOR OF NORTH AMERICA AS IT WAS WHEN ENGLAND TOOK IT FROM FRANCE” (STREETER). Rogers acted as a scout for the 1755 expedition against Crown Point, and in 1756 became captain of an independent company of Rangers. He made dozens of raids against the French in New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, going as far west as the shores of Lake Huron. He was sent to receive the capitulation of Western French posts in 1760; en route he met Pontiac, the Ottowa chief, and received his submission to English supremacy. Rogers was also present at the siege of Detroit by Pontiac 1763. Buck 3. Clark Old South I:301. Field 1316. Greenly Michigan 17. Howes R-418 “b”. Lande 761. Sabin 72723. Streeter sale II:1028. STEUBEN, BARON FRIEDRICH WILHELM VON. 1730-1794.
Autograph Letter Signed (“Steuben”) to Gouverneur Morris, 1 p, in French, Pompton [Pompton, NJ?], 4th April 1782, addressing the cost of rationing “Camp Ladies”, some toning, folds.
Provenance: by descent to the present owner.

An interesting letter from Von Steuben as a General in the Continental to Gouverneur Morris as assistant to the Superintendent of Finance. Beginning with niceties mentioning Elizabethtown, and the promotion of General Knox [sic], he moves on to the crux of his letter: “...autant que je respecte le beau sexe..., ” he cannot maintain the cost of providing for the “Camp Ladies” housed with the regiments of Jersey, citing the return of his young master with 80 rations, a disproportionate number in consideration of the 12,000 troops costing $80,000 annually. Although the Continental Army had won a stunning victory at Yorktown the previous fall, and whispers of negotiations were prominent, the army was still suffering from a lack of resources, and funds. Von Steuben, the father of American military discipline resources, sends a gentle reminder on the would-be priorities of the Army.

TAFT, WILLIAM HOWARD. 1857-1930.
Original staple-bound wrappers, minor toning to leaves, but a fine copy.
INSCRIBED ON THE FRONT COVER BY TAFT to Professor Laurence Laughlin while president. Laughlin, the chair of the political economy department at the University of Chicago, was one of the leading economists in America. At the time of the lecture, Taft had recently lost his bid for re-election, and the speech reflects the new-found freedom in its humor, although still laced with serious concerns.

TOCQUEVILLE, ALEXIS DE. 1805-1859.

4 volumes, 8vo. (200 x 123 mm). Half-titles, 1 folding hand-colored lithographic map. Half green calf over marbled boards, very nice copies.

FIRST EDITIONS OF BOTH PARTS OF TOCQUEVILLE’S CLASSIC DEMOCRACY IN AMERICA. From the time of its first publication, Tocqueville’s work enjoyed the reputation of being the most acute and perceptive discussion of the political and social life of the United States ever published. The first part was published in an edition of less than 500 copies in January 1835. The book was an instant and sustained success and numerous editions, many with revisions, followed quickly, so that the second part, first published in April 1840, was issued concurrently with the eighth edition of the first part.

The origins of the book lie in the observations Tocqueville made during a nine month tour of the United States starting in the spring of 1831. After visiting prisons in the East, they undertook a tour of the South as far as New Orleans, ascended the Mississippi, visited the Great Lakes and Canada, and returned via New York. Poems, Dramatic and Miscellaneous. Boston: I. Thomas and E.T. Andrews, 1790. 8vo, viii, 252. Contemporary calf, front hinge strengthened with Japanese paper, some chipping to the corners, with some cracking to the spine, minor staining to leaves. Provenance: Jos. F. Hodgson (ink inscription); Jefferson Library (early bookplate from lending library); Flora Warren Seymour, from Emily Downs? (ink inscription). FIRST EDITION OF THE FIRST WORK TO BEAR HER NAME. With the publication of these eighteen poems and two political plays, revolutionary activist and political writer Mercy Otis Warren became the third American woman, after Anne Bradstreet and Phyllis Wheatley, to publish a significant body of poetry. A frequent correspondent and friend to a diverse array of revolutionary leaders including Patrick Henry, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and John Adams, she previously had published a number of political plays, poems, and commentaries anonymously, often in papers and pamphlets. This collection represents a step into, if not the limelight, the light of day, and a significant advancement for women in literature. She would later publish one of the earliest histories of the Revolution, of which she played an integral role, as History of the Rise, Progress, and Termination of the American Revolution. WASHINGTON, GEORGE. 1732-1799.
Autograph Letter Signed (“Go: Washington”) to Gouverneur Morris, 4 pp, folio, Hd. Qrs. May 6th, 1779, docketed 9 May 1779 (date of receipt), addressing Morris’s proposed method of attack on New York City, the Southern Campaign, as well as the decay of the currency, and Washington’s well-founded fears for the Army and its morale, clean, folds.
Provenance: by descent to present owner.

A REMARKABLE AND IMPORTANT WASHINGTON LETTER TO GOVERNEUR MORRIS, written in response to a letter from Morris outlining a strategy for an attack on New York City, and also addressing the urgency to send troops to the Southern States (Morris noted of the British strategy in the South, “at first I considered it as a Kind of Madness and I think they will feel the Consequences but certainly it cannot be worth while to loose a Moment unnecessarily in the Quarter…”). Washington responds judiciously, “sufficient assurances cannot be given of points which are essential to justify the great undertaking you had in view ... my judgment rather inclined to the second plan [in the South] as promising more certain success, without putting so much the hazard.” He addresses the British pivot to the South with a keen judgement, and conveys no little worry: “Our army as it now stands is little more than the skeleton of an army and I hear of no steps that are taking to give it strength and substance.” His concern for the morale of the Army, and of the populace, are clear, and he ends with clear-eyed advice to Morris, “to endeavour to pacify party differences -- To give fresh vigour to the Springs of Government -- To inspire the people with confidence -- and above all to restore the credit of our currency.”

This expansive letter covers important terrain in tremendous (and evocative) detail. It has been published in the Washington Papers (15:23-26), from a (mis-dated) copy in the hand of Washington’s aide, Alexander Hamilton. A fine example of an important war-time letter from the country’s first and greatest military leader and statesman.

THE DANIEL TOPPING COLLECTION OF THE NEW YORK YANKEES

My father, Dan Topping (1912-1974), was a larger than life figure. He enjoyed sports from an early age, and in 1934, at the age of 22, he ventured into owning sports teams with the purchase of an interest in the Brooklyn Dodgers Football team. After serving as a Marine in the Pacific theater from 1942-45, he quickly began to exhibit the family business acumen inherited from his two grandfathers, John Topping, who was President of Republic Iron and Daniel Reid, the tin plate king who sold out his tin empire to J.P. Morgan in 1901 for $18 million.

My grandmother tipped him off in 1945 that the Yankees would be coming up for sale, and so with her help, my father and two other investors Larry MacPhail (friend, and owner of the Dodgers baseball club) and Del Webb (a construction tycoon from the midwest) bought the Yankees baseball franchise. Larry moved on a few years later, leaving the ownership of the Yankees to my father and Del, and as Del was never in New York City, the day-to-day management of the club fell to my father as President, until 80% of the holdings were sold to CBS in 1964. He remained as President until 1966 when he parted with his last 10%. Under his ownership the team won 15 American League Pennants and 10 World Series Championships- one of the most successful periods in the history of the club.

He is remembered in Yankee folklore as the man who worked miracles with his team roster, with the guidance of excellent staff such as Casey Stengel and George Weiss, Ralph Houk and Yogi Berra. I look back at his record now, and see not just a great baseball team owner, but also a very shrewd businessman, who understood the power and influence of the sporting franchise of the Yankees. He created a marketing team to spread the word, and fostered a camaraderie amongst the team that undoubtedly led to their 5 straight World Championships 1949-53. The sale of Yankees Stadium and the land underneath in 1953, and subsequent lease-back, while retaining full ownership of the franchise, was considered a particularly smart move, and one that many modern team owners have applauded and copied. Under his benign guidance the Yankees flowered into the most successful baseball team of the era.

I remember him mostly from the period after he had left the Yankees, as a good father who cared for and loved his children. Some years back, my mother, who had found herself with most of his things from his Yankees office which had been cleared out in 1966, was about to throw out his filing cabinet of Yankees papers from her basement. I stopped her just in time, and took custody of this paperwork and the various pieces of furniture and memorabilia which decorated his office. I have kept it all now for 20 years, but I am now moving, and I feel it’s time to let the past go. I hope you enjoy this selection of Yankees history from my father’s office- they were my father’s last treasures from his 21 year Yankees career, and I hope they go to good Yankees homes!

TOPPING, RHEA REID. (1886-1947).: AS YOU HAVE BEEN INTERESTED IN ALL TYPES OF SPORTING EVENTS SINCE YOUR CHILDHOOD...

Typed letter signed (“Mother”), addressed to her son Daniel Reid Topping, 2 pp, 8vo, on R. R. Topping letterhead, dated October 19, 1947, on the arrangement of the Topping purchase of the New York Yankees, paper clip rust stains, usual folds, ink smudge in right margin affecting only a few words.

AN IMPORTANT LETTER CONCERNING THE FINANCIAL HISTORY OF THE YANKEES. As recounted in this letter, Mrs. Topping was the one who alerted her eldest son that the Trustees for the late Jacob Ruppert estate were putting the New York Yankees Baseball Team on the market. “As you have been interested in all types of sporting events since your childhood,” she writes, “I thought at that time it was the opportunity for you to really acquire an interest in one of the largest sporting enterprises of its kind in the country. I urged you to contact the Manufacturers Trust Company to see what could be worked out, having in mind that I would naturally help you financially.” With his mother’s backing, Dan Topping and partners Del Webb and Larry MacPhail bought the Yankees for $2.8 million in 1945. In this letter, Mrs. Topping discusses her son’s recent purchase of MacPhail’s stock and the debt that Dan and his brother Jack owed to her. She further proposes to dispose of $750,000.00 to each of her three sons, although she further proposes to dispose of $750,000.00 to each of her three sons, “If your indebtedness to me is paid you will have nothing for yourself.” . She concludes, “It goes without saying that I am deeply interested in your continuing with the Yankee organization and following this work for the future, and I will at all times watch your progress and the success of the organization.” Mrs. Topping died from pneumonia less than a month after sending this letter.

Born in Richmond, Indiana, Rhea Reid (1886-1947) was the daughter of Daniel G. Reid, known as the “Tinplate King” for his vast holdings in the tin industry, which he sold to J.P. Morgan for $18 million in 1901. She married millionaire socialite Henry Junkens Topping (1886-1951), and they had three sons, Daniel, Henry Jr. and John. They later divorced. Her father built her the Tudor mansion Dunnellen Hall in Greenwich, Connecticut, a 164-acre estate, later the home of Leona Helmsley.

YANKEE STADIUM, “THE HOUSE THAT RUTH BUILT.”

An aerial photograph of the Yankee stadium, ca. 1950’s, taken from a light plane or helicopter, 18-3/4 x 14-1/4 inches, matted and framed, probably taken for publicity purposes; together with the original negative for the shot.

A fine aerial shot of the old Yankee Stadium, an awe inspiring sight for Yankees fans, laid out in all its glory. It was a very imposing modern ballpark, one of the finest of its day. The stadium was built in 1923 at a cost of $2.4 million, and the Yankees played there until the new stadium opened in 2009 (and the old stadium was torn down and sold to the fans). The old stadium, the real home and heart of the Yankees, also hosted concerts, boxing matches and 3 papal masses. This photograph was hung behind Dan Topping's desk in his office at Yankee Stadium.

NEW YORK YANKEES STOCK CERTIFICATE 1945.
An orange printed stock certificate, American League Baseball Club of New York, Inc. Capital Stock, for the partnership of MacPhail/ Webb and Topping (with Friedlund, a lawyer, given Topping's voting rights), signed by Wein as Secretary and MacPhail as President, and countersigned by their bank, Bankers Trust Company, verso glassed to show the stock transfer tax paid in stamps in 1947 (with the buyout of MacPhail's holding, dated 11/25/47), 7.5 x 11.5 inches, framed and glazed; together with a cancelled share certificate for 1400 shares in Kansas City Baseball Club (the farm team), made out to Topping and Webb, surrendered in the deal with Johnson, dated December 10th 1953, framed and glazed.

The first stock certificate for the new Yankees ownership of MacPhail/ Webb/Topping in 1945, as well as the first share certificate of the newly re-established New York Yankees Football Club, January 1947. Dan Topping had bought the Dodgers football team earlier, which he sold when he took over the Yankees in 1945. He then set up a break away AAFC for east coast football teams and restarted the Yankees football franchise. They played from 1946-49, with the Dodgers merging with the Yankees just after. The AAFC, however, dissolved under intense pressure from the NFL.

NEW YORK YANKEES BASEBALL SCHEDULE CLASHES WITH JEWISH HOLIDAYS.

Topping, Daniel Reid; and Rabbi ABA Abrams. Western Union telegram, dated Oct 8, 1951, from Rabbi Abrams to Topping, with a carbon copy of the reply from Topping, dated October 12, 1951, 2 pp, oblong 8vo, minor wear and creases.

The 1951 World Series featured the New York Yankees against the New York Giants in a Subway Series played from October 4-10. Unfortunately, these dates coincided with the Jewish High Holidays for that year, creating a dilemma for the New York Jewish community. Rabbi Abrams, President the Bronx Council of Rabbis and spiritual leader of the Jacob H. Schiff Jewish Center of the Bronx, wired Topping his concern: “TWO MILLION JEWS IN NEW YORK WILL OBSERVE YOM KIPPUR SACRED DAY OF ATONEMENT WEDNESDAY STOP ALL DAY HOLY SERVICES IN HUNDREDS OF SYNAGOGUES WILL BE EFFECTED BY DEEP INTEREST IN WORLD SERIES IN RESPECT FOR THIS HOLY DAY AND IN CONSIDERATION FOR MULTITUDE OF JEWISH SPORT FANS WHO LOVE THE GAME WE BEG YOU TO POSTPONE WEDNESDAYS GAME TO THURSDAY YOUR FAVORABLE ACTION IN RESPECT TO RELIGIOUS FREED WILL HAVE WORLD-WIDE INFLUENCE IN DEMONSTRATING AMERICAN SPORTSMANSHIP.” Topping replied too late on the 12th, “I am sorry it was impossible to meet your request, but I hope you will understand that the Series dates are set up many months in advance so that people from all over the country make their plans accordingly to be in New York.” It was a shame no one checked beforehand.

A fine, classic Hamilton wristwatch, commissioned from the watchmaker with a specially designed Yankees dial, Cartier strap, owned and used by Dan Topping throughout his life. We suspect that there may have been just 3 such watches made for the owners of the Yankees Baseball Club on the occasion of their first World Series success under the Topping/Del Webb/MacPhail management team, achieved just two years after they acquired the club from the Estate of Jacob Ruppert in 1945. The 1947 victory was the Yankees 11th World Championship, and they would go on to win another 9 under the Topping/ Webb management.

A 17 jewel Wittnauer pocket watch, sterling silver case, thick beveled glass crystal, light gray art deco dial, marked Wittnauer, with numbers 3, 9, 12, hour minute and second hands, verso with Yankees top hat logo dated 1952, and engraved on rim “World Champions G.B.” Some light staining of silver due to age, and light wear. Diameter of dial 1.4 inches.

In 1952 the Yankees won their 19th American League Pennant, finishing 95-59, 2 games ahead of the Cleveland Indians, and more impressively, they posted their fourth consecutive World Series victory in seven games over the Dodgers. The 38 members on the roster and the principal managers all received this watch, as well as a number of associates from the minor league farm system. As G.B. does not accord with anyone on the main roster, this pocket watch may have been engraved for an associate, but never delivered, as it remained with Dan Topping and was obviously used by him.

NEW YORK YANKEES PARTNERSHIP CONTRACTS, 1953-62.

Typed Documents Signed (“Daniel Topping” and “Del Webb”), including signed certificate of General Partnership, three signed contracts and two signed letters of agreement with additional correspondence (some duplicates) concerning the ownership of the New York Yankees, in the period 1953 to 1961, 30 pp, various sizes, November 25, 1953; June 17, 1955 (with carbon copy); November 1, 1955; July 17, 1956; October 31, 1960; and April 11, 1962; minor wear and discoloration due to age.

Lifelong baseball fan and real estate developer Delbert Eugene “Del” Webb (1899-1974) is best remembered as a co-owner of the New York Yankees Baseball Club. In 1945, Webb and partners Dan Topping and Larry MacPhail bought the New York Yankees from the estate of Col. Jake Ruppert, Jr for $2.8 million. Webb and Topping bought out MacPhail in 1947, and jointly owned the Yankees until they sold the club to CBS in 1964 for $11.2 million. According to their partnership agreement of November 25, 1953, Topping and Webb were equal owners of the New York Yankees and several minor league baseball farm clubs including the Kansas City Blues, Binghamton Triplets and Norfolk Tars. They shared equally in both profit and loss; and Topping took an annual salary of $75,000 while Webb agreed to $50,000. Although equal partners, Topping was in charge of the everyday administrative and operating concerns of the club. Their agreement of June 17, 1955 relates to the profits from the sale of Yankee Stadium and Blue Stadium in Kansas City, Mo. to the Arnold Johnson Corporation in 1953. The agreement of November 1, 1955 extended their partnership to October 31, 1959. The Certificate of General Partnership of July 17, 1956, established a partnership of Topping and Webb as “Kearney Yankees,” their principal place of doing business being Kearney, Nebraska. Here they defined their purpose was “playing with other professional baseball groups, corporations or associations, and engaging in activities connected therewith.” In the 1960 letter of agreement and its 1962 follow-up, they vowed to annually “state in writing the value the partnership interest of each of the parties to the agreement.” As of 1962, the value of the partnership owned by each of them was valued at $7 million or a total of $14 million, up from 1960's valuation of $7.5 million total, and from the 1945 purchase price of $2.8 million. They also shared $2.7 million profit from the sale of the land to the Knights of Columbus in 1953. The Yankee franchise was indeed a gold mine, which facilitated the sale to CBS in 1964. It is thought Topping/Webb got $11.2 million for 80% of the company in the 1964 sale. Today Forbes estimates the book value of the Yankees franchise at $3.4 billion, second only to the Dallas cowboys at $4 billion.

3 Typed Documents Signed (“Daniel Topping,” “Del Webb,” and “George Weiss”), being contracts and related correspondence concerning employment of G. M. Weiss as General Manager of the New York Yankees, 23 pp, various sizes, the contracts dated August 10, 1951; November 25, 1955; and June 3, 1958; folds with some rust stains from paper clips.

The G.M. Weiss file from the Dan Topping archive. A baseball fan since high school, George Martin Weiss (1894-1972) entered the business in 1919 when he purchased the Eastern League's New Haven team. He took over the Baltimore Orioles in 1930, and was hired by the Yankees in 1932 to develop their farm team. After the Yankees won the 1947 World Series, he was promoted to Vice President and General Manager, and served in that capacity until 1960. Topping and Webb left most of the everyday business of running the club to Weiss, and he led the Yankees to ten pennants and seven World Series in thirteen seasons. Sports Illustrated named a 1954 profile of Weiss “The Yankees’ Real Boss.” According to the second contract, he was earned $95,000 a year in 1959 and 1960. The loss to the Pittsburgh Pirates in the 1960 World series triggered the downfall of Weiss and manager Casey Stengel. A draft of a letter of agreement dated February 1, 1961 (also included) reduced his duties to 20% as a consultant and advisor to the team (in lay terms, they made him a scout). Weiss left the Yankees to become the first president of the New York Mets from 1961 to 1966, and only in his last year were the Mets able to rise above last place in the National League. Weiss entered the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1971, just a year before his death.

NEW YORK YANKEES 1952 WORLD SERIES CHAMPIONS SIGNED BASEBALL.
Autographed Reach Official American League Ball, William Harridge, Pres., 1952. Encased within a square plastic box. Worn with manufacturer’s markings rubbed.

A fine, game-worn baseball signed by 28 players from the 1952 World Champion New York Yankees, including Yogi Berra, Mickey Mantle, Tom Gorman, Ed Lopat, Andy Carey and many others. After winning their nineteenth pennant over the Cleveland Indians, the Yankees beat the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series four games to three. Capping their fifteenth championship season, Mickey Mantle hit the first of his record eighteen career World Series home runs in Game 6; and Yankees’ second baseman (and later manager) Billy Martin made the game-saving catch in Game 7. William Harridge (1883-1971) was President of the American League from 1931 to 1959.

1. A sterling silver presentation platter, with central engraved aerial view of the old Yankee Stadium, lettered above “Old Timers’ Day/ honoring Veteran White Sox and Yankee stars/ Yankee Stadium August 25 1956,” with the engraved name of “Dan Topping” below. Verso with makers mark Wallace Sterling and scratched number “X639.” Some light discoloration to edges. Diameter 12 inches;

3. A polished brass platter, the bowl of the platter engraved with an image of Lou Gehrig and the Yankees Top Hat logo, lettered “In memory of Lou Gehrig Native New Yorker. Old Timers’ Day, August 22nd 1953,” edges slightly rubbed, diameter 9 inches.

Dan Topping’s special presentation sterling silver platter and pitcher, and the Lou Gehrig platter of 1953, were all issued to commemorate the Old Timer’s Days of August 1953, 1956 and 1959. Old Timer’s Days are a great Yankee tradition, started in the 1940s when Topping and Webb took over the club. They are now in their 71st year. The veteran attendees and Yankee management all received a special platter or pitcher, depending on the year’s gift, to celebrate the special day.

SALE OF THE LAND UNDER YANKEE STADIUM.
A manila file, label annotated “The Johnson file,” of approximately 50 TLSs and ALSs, all dated 1953-54, relating to the sale of the land under the Yankee Stadium to the Arnold Johnson Corporation and the subsequent purchase of said land by the Knights of Columbus for $3 million, including: “Indenture of lease between ... Johnson ... and Topping ... Webb,” dated December 17, 1953; land appraisal by J.P. McCann, dated November 20th 1953, with a plan showing the 3 plots being valued for $2.6 million; an earlier copy of the same report dated June 19th 1953; with several press clippings discussing the land sale from newspapers of the day.
WITH: file of approximately 47 letters from accountants, lawyers, US Treasury agents, Topping, Webb and others, creating this land deal; AND WITH: A group of IRS correspondence relating to an IRS investigation into the above land deal, covering the period 1957-59.

An interesting folder found in Dan Topping’s personal files documenting the sale of Yankee Stadium and its land to the Knights of Columbus in a deal worth $2.5 million (in 1953), without impinging their ownership of the Yankees. Also included is correspondence relating to the subsequent IRS investigation into the club after 1957, relating to the value of the club’s assets and this deal, with numerous letters from the US Treasury, reports on the value of assets, and the lawyers’ replies.

The history of the ownership of the Yankee Stadium and land from 1953 to 1971 is tortuous. In 1953 Topping/Webb sold both stadium and land, plus that of the farm club the Kansas City Athletics, to Arnold Johnson, of Chicago for $6.5 million. Johnson kept the Kansas site to house his newly acquired Philadelphia Athletics, and did a leaseback to the Yankees. He then sold the land under the stadium to the Knights of Columbus, who wanted a stable investment and got a 5% yield from the capital as rent. In 1955 Johnson was pressured to sell the stadium for an undisclosed amount to a John Cox, who then in 1962 gave his ownership to his alma mater Rice university in Houston.

By 1971 with the stadium in bad repair, and the Yankees were threatening to move away, Mayor Lindsay of New York stepped in with a compulsory purchase of the stadium for $2.5m, and the land underneath for an undisclosed sum, but reportedly $20 million. He then spent another $100 million of New York City funds restoring the old stadium for its new owners Steinbrenner and Associates.

These documents reveal that the income of the New York Yankees varied from $5,129,334.68 in 1954 to $9,087,563.17 in 1964. Not surprisingly the club earned considerably more from home games than on the road. Revenue from television broadcasts of Yankees games rose from $728,500.00 in 1954 to $1,375,000.00 in 1964.

A New York Yankees Partner’s Expense Account Allowance for Period 11/1/62 to 10/31/63 reveals that Topping spent $32,968.42 mostly for hotel rooms, car rentals and golf course visits. Also in this collection are three letters (including one duplicate) concerning federal tax reports sent to Topping from Herbert N. Krauss, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, & Co., April 13, 1964 and April 14, 1965; and one from K. N. Esponeck of the same firm, July 11, 1966. Formed in 1911, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, & Co. was one of the leading accounting firms in the country. It merged with Klynveld Main Goerdeler (KMG) in 1987 to create the worlds’ biggest accounting firm KPMG.

NEW YORK YANKEES LEASE AGREEMENT WITH THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Document Signed, entitled “YANKEE STADIUM CORPORATION - THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS and Daniel R. Topping and Del E. Webb as copartners doing business as NEW YORK YANKEES," being a lease and option agreement for Yankee Stadium, signed and notarized by all parties concerned, dated November 6, 1959 and December 17, 1959, two volumes, 8vo, typed carbons, unpaginated, with three blueprints of the stadium stapled in the first, original card binders with red labels marked “1959 DEAL,” minor wear, some rusting of staples and metal bolts.

Opened in 1923, the original Yankee Stadium in the Bronx, known as "The House That Ruth Built," was the home of the New York Yankees until the new stadium (adjacent to the old) was opened in 2009. The first ballpark was demolished in 2010. The Yankees owners, Topping and Webb, sold the land under Yankee Stadium in 1953 to businessman Arnold Johnson, who then sold it on to The Knights of Columbus. The first volume contains 13 contracts, some signed, mimeographed, photostatted and/or typed, with three blueprints of Yankee Stadium. The second contains 8 mimeographed and/or typed contracts. Faded photostat of Annual Rentals (December 1, 1959-November 30, 1981) loosely laid in to front of the first volume. In effect this 2 volume collection includes the complete history of contractual ownership documentation from 1953 to 1959, including copies of the blueprints for the stadium.

US$10,000 - 15,000

The guestbook used in the owner’s box at Yankee Stadium, 17 pp used, with numerous signatures of celebrities, the remainder blank, oblong 4to, July 9, 1958 to May 2, 1962, original full tan pigskin embossed with Yankees seal, a.e.g., scuffed and some soiling.

There was no more prestigious place to watch a game or any other sporting event at Yankee Stadium than in Dan Topping's personal box. Among the signers are ballplayers Hank Greenberg and Ty Cobb, CBS President William S. Paley, newscaster Lowell Thomas, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Earl Warren, Mayor of New York Robert F. Wagner Jr., Senator Robert F. Wagner, sportswriter and baseball executive Ford Frick, businessman Arnold Johnson and numerous military men and members of the Knights of Columbus. (Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio joined Topping and his wife on Opening Day, April 11, 1961, but unfortunately did not sign the book.)

2 Typed Documents Signed (“Daniel Topping,” “Del Webb,” and “Henry Hamey”), being contracts, with amendment in the 1962 agreement, concerning H. Roy Hamey’s employment as General Manager and Director of Minor League Operations, 16 pp, 4to, dated November 1, 1961 and November 1, 1962, some discoloration due to age; a rust stain from a paper clip.

Henry Roy Hamey (1902-1983) served his apprenticeship with the Yankees organization as their farm system director. He entered the major leagues when he became General Manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1946. When the Pirates replaced him, Hamey returned to the Yankees where he served as Chief Assistant to General Manager George M. Weiss from 1951 to 1954. He became General Manager of the Philadelphia Phillies with mixed results. When they let him go in 1958, he returned to Weiss and the Yankees for 1959 and 1960.

These two contracts put him in charge of the club’s minor league teams at an annual salary of $45,000. He replaced Weiss as General Manager in 1960. After two very successful seasons in 1961-62, the 1963 Yankees won the pennant but were swept by the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series, the first time the Yankees had suffered a sweep in the Fall Classic. In the management shake-up following, Hamey stepped down and acted as “a consultant and advisor” (meaning a scout for the Yankees) at an annual salary of $15,000 from 1962 to 1969. He left the Yankees to work for the Seattle Pilots for the 1969-1970 season before retiring to Tucson. The lot includes a cancelled check for payments to Hamey.

Typed Document Signed (“Daniel Topping” and “Ralph G. Houk”) being the contract and related documents (some duplicates) concerning Houk’s employment as General Manager of the New York Yankees, 30 pp, various sizes, the contract dated October 21, 1963, creases and rust stains from paper clips.

Ralph “The Major” Houk (1919-2010) was a star athlete in high school who signed with the Yankees as a catcher in 1939. After three seasons in the minor leagues, Houk joined the Army and served valiantly during the invasion of Normandy and in the Battle of the Bulge. He returned to the Yankees in 1947, but with Yogi Berra as the team’s star catcher, Houk spent most of his time in the bullpen before retiring to coach in 1954. In 1955, he became manager of the Yankees’ top minor league team, the Denver Bears, before returning to the Yankees as a first base coach under Casey Stengel. After the Yankees lost the 1960 World Series, the now sought after managerial candidate Houk was tagged as the new manager of the Yankees, replacing Stengel. He had some big shoes to fill: the team had won 10 pennants and 7 World Series under Stengel and George M. Weiss. The Yankees captured the World Series in both 1961 (capped by Maris breaking Ruth’s single season home run mark) and 1962, before winning the 1963 pennant race, only to lose the ‘63 Series in shameful fashion (swept 4-0 by the Dodgers), after which Houk was shifted to General Manager. After the CBS ownership years and the sale of the team to George “The Boss” Steinbrenner in 1973, Houk left the Yankees, feeling it was not the same ball club as it was in the 50s and early 60s. He went on to manage the Detroit Tigers and the Boston Red Sox; and, as a special assistant to the General Manager, he helped the Minnesota Twins win the 1987 World Series.

Included in this lot are carbon copies of Houk’s resignation as Officer and Director of the club; Michael Burke’s appointment as Chairman of the Board and President; a copy of the Organizational Charts prepared by Nathaniel Leverone, Founding Chairman of Automatic Canteen Company of America, dated November 1962, which Topping gave to Houk; and an accompanying initialed typed letter from Topping to Houk, dated November 15, 1963.

THE NEW YORK YANKEES 18TH ANNUAL OLD TIMERS’ GAME, AUGUST 1964.
Photograph Signed by Charles Hoff, “A manager’s dream lineup fills the Yankees’ dugout before the start of the 18th annual Old Timers’ Game at the Stadium,” 10.5 x 12 inches, gelatin silver print, signed (“Chas Hof” - last letter cropped off) in pencil on verso, and recto signed “Best wishes Frank Crosetti,” creased, marginal tears with some chipping along right edge where cropped for framing and staples in margins; tear repaired on verso with tape; WITH: 7 modern photographs of the Yankees and the old Stadium, several signed at an Old Timers’ Day, three with signature of Yogi Berra, another signed by Whitey Ford and Phil Rizzuto.
Provenance: Tom Topping.
This signed press photograph was taken at Yankee Stadium on Saturday August 8, 1964, the lineup of veterans in the dugout identified on the verso in ink: Charlie Keller, Tom Henrick, Red Rolfe, Joe Collins, Frank Crosetti, Spud Chandler, Allie Reynolds, Vic Raschi, Joe DiMaggio, John Mize, Hank Bauer, Phil Rizzuto, Gene Woodling, Eddie Lopat and Yogi Berra. Famed New York Daily News sports photographer Charles Hoff (1905-1975) was perhaps best known for his boxing shots, but he also covered the Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers. His most famous photograph, however, is of the explosion of the Hindenburg in Lakehurst, NJ, in 1937.

These records demonstrate how relatively inexpensive it was to run a Major League ball club in the late 1950s and early 1960s compared to the current costs. For example, on December 17, 1959 home run king Roger Maris was acquired from the Kansas City Athletics for $125,000; Jim Bouton and Joe Pepitone from Amarillo for just $2,000 on April 9, 1962; and the New York Yankees paid $1,981,267.00 in bonuses for a five year period. A relic of an age before free agency and player representation.

CBS BUYS THE YANKEES.

Archive of documents relating to the sale of the Yankees, Inc, to the Central Broadcasting System, comprising:
27 letters and other documents (some duplicates and photocopies),
57 pp, various sizes, June 8, 1962-September 20, 1966, related to the transfer of ownership of the Yankees from Daniel R. Topping and Del Webb to CBS, creases and metal paper clip rust stains.

WITH: CBS press release on the company's purchase of the Yankees from Vice President E. K. Meade, Jr. with photocopies of a letter from Dan Topping, the contract, an article in The Wall Street Journal (three) and three clippings from the New York World-Telegram, 11 pp, various sizes, August 14, 1964, some discoloring and metal paper clip rust stains;

WITH: CBS Annual Report 1965; 2 CBS in-house newsletters about the Yankees purchase, 1965-66

AND: New York Yankees press release on Dan Topping's resignation (both in draft with his pencil revisions and final form), 3 pp, September 19, 1966, folds; and a file of Press clippings about the CBS purchase, 1964-66.

From Dan Topping's personal files, this archive records the events of the sale of the Yankee franchise to a broadcaster, CBS, at the time viewed with some horror by diehard Yankee fans. On November 2, 1964, CBS purchased 80% of the Yankees from Topping and Del Webb for $11,200,000.00. Topping agreed to stay on as Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation for at least five more years. He addresses the Yankee employees in an open letter: "On behalf of Del Webb and myself, I want to take this opportunity to thank each of you personally for your loyal and devoted service to the Yankees. I feel sure that our future is even brighter than our past and I hope you will join with me in an even greater effort to keep the Yankees champions ... on and off the field." Just two years later he left the company when the network bought the remaining 20%. 1965 had not been a great year for the team; their first losing season in 40 years. The 1966 season was even worse: the first time they had ended up in last place since 1912. Attendance at Yankee Stadium was also at a new low. It was a good time to retire. The team never went to the World Series during the CBS years. The Yankees did not regain their dominance of the game until the mid 1970s after George Steinbrenner and associates bought the team from CBS and made Billy Martin manager. By contrast, during the 20 years that Topping and Webb owned the Yankees, they missed reaching the World Series only five times and won ten World Championships.

DIMAGGIO SIGNED BASEBALL.
Provenance: Tom Topping

This signed ball was given to Tom Topping for his children, ‘Joltin’ Joe DiMaggio was one of the legends of modern baseball. The Yankee Clipper played his entire thirteen-year professional career with the Yankees from 1936 to 1941 and 1946 to 1951; and his fifty-six game hitting streak has never been outdone. This three-time Most Valuable Player participated in nine World Series championships, was elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1955, and was voted the sport’s greatest living player during Baseball’s Centennial in 1969. Off the field, in true star fashion, he is also remembered for his short marriage to actress Marilyn Monroe, as well as his post-baseball career as spokesman for Mr. Coffee machines.

Autographed Rawlings Official Ball American League Gene A. Budig baseball, 1990s, signed “Yogi Berra” in ink on the sweet spot. Encased within a square plastic box with Rawlings plastic base.
Provenance: Tom Topping

Signed post-career by Hall-of-Famer Yogi Berra beneath his famous Yogi-ism: “It ain’t over till it’s over Yogi Berra.” Berra was a real baseball character. An eighteen-time All-Star and winner of more World Series championships than other player in Major League Baseball history (ten in all), the legendary Yankees catcher is best remembered for his colorful mangling of the English language and logic (“It’s deja vu all over again” ... “The future ain’t what it used to be” ... “When you come to a fork in the road, take it”). He first uttered the immortal words written on this baseball in July of the 1973 season, with his Mets trailing the Chicago Cubs by a wide margin; the Mets, in fact, did rally and went on to reach their second World Series.

DAN TOPPING’S 1972 NATIONAL LEAGUE PASS.

Navy blue leather wallet containing a pass to any game for the 1972 season, and a compact calendar showing schedules for all National League games that season, gold-embossed titling inside reading Compliments of the National League, 5 x 3 inches, scattered scuffs and spotting to exterior, otherwise very good; together with Dan Topping’s 1969 Professional Baseball’s 100th Anniversary wallet, red leather with pouch for a pass, and the 1969 playing schedule for the National League.

Even though Topping no longer owned a stake in the Yankees, he was still considered a V.I.P., as evidenced by this pass, which reads “The National League of Professional Baseball Clubs - Representing twelve great cities - Extends the courtesy of all its grounds to Daniel Topping and Party.”

BROOKLYN DODGERS FOOTBALL CLUB, INC.

An archive of material relating to the Brooklyn Dodgers Football Club, comprising: 1. 14 letters and 4 notes to and from Dan Topping (some on Brooklyn Dodgers stationery), concerning the management of the Brooklyn Dodgers Football Club, Inc, 18 pp total, dated January 19, 1939-February 1, 1943, some staple rust stains.
2. 10 cancelled checks (two from Henry T. Topping Jr; and eight signed by Rhea Reid Topping on her son’s behalf), endorsed by Dennis J. Shea, Manager, dated December 13, 1937-September 28, 1939.
3. 2 capital stock transfers for respectively 1,250 and 40 shares of the Brooklyn Dodgers Football Club, Inc., to National Surety Company, both signed by Topping and witness Neal M. Welch, each 7 x 8 3/8 inches, December 7, 1940, creases.
4. 2 Financial Reports on the Brooklyn Dodgers Football Club, carbon copy, 1941-42, 4to, original titled brown paper bolted folder.

Prior to his purchase of the New York Yankees Baseball Team in 1945, Dan Topping owned the Brooklyn Dodgers Football Club, Inc. with his wife and his brother Henry J. Topping Jr. The football Dodgers played in the National Football League from 1930 to 1943 (and in 1944 as the Brooklyn Tigers). Topping’s records here show that he paid $4,811.10 into the club for entire year of 1939. Professional football was hurting from World War II with financial strains on both players and fans. A carbon of a letter of January 22, 1941 from Albert L. Strong reports that net operations resulted in a loss of $14,720.45. The final 1941 financial report declared that the club was running on a deficit of $68,951.91. The 1942 statement showed that the loss from operations was $20,662.80. Topping pulled the team out of the NFL in 1946 and placed it in the newly established All-American Football Conference before devoting his full attention to the New York Yankees Baseball Team. Nevertheless, in its relatively short history, the football Dodgers produced four Hall of Famers: Morris “Red” Badgro, Benny Friedman, Frank “Bruiser” Kinard and Clarence “Ace” Parker.

LANA TURNER AND HENRY TOPPING: HONEYMOON IN EUROPE, 1948.

A British automobile wallet containing 14 booklets, forms, brochures and correspondence, various sizes, the wallet signed "H. A. Topping (Jr.)," some wear and creases.

When MGM movie star Lana Turner married her third husband Henry Jonkins Topping Jr. (Tom Topping's brother), in Pasadena, Ca. on April 26, 1948, they set off for a driving tour of Europe in their 1947 Cadillac. This collection of documents concerning permission to drive in England, and the exportation of their car from Nice back to New York, comprising:

1. International Driving Permits for Lana Turner and Henry Topping, both issued in London 1948, unsigned, but with passport photos of them both;
2. Driving Licenses for Lana Turner and Henry Topping of the Savoy Hotel, London, granting them permission to drive in the UK in 1949, both unsigned;
3. International Fiscal Permit No. 11590 issued to H. J. Topping Jr., on April 26, 1948, and an International Certificate for Motor Vehicles, both giving him permission to import his Cadillac motor car;
4. Automobile Association Membership Card, issued April 30, 1949, not signed, p 25 indicates that Topping secured permission to import the Cadillac on June 8, 1948; and an AA Handbook, [1947];
5. Certificate of Registration, issued to Henry Jonkins Topping with passport photograph, revealing that he is married, his profession is promoter, and that he had served in the US Navy, signed; TOGETHER with 4 letters to and from Henry Topping about Insurance matters, the certificate of Foreign insurance dated October 5 1948, and 2 receipts from the French shipping company shipping the Cadillac back to New York from Nice, via Le Havre.

Despite their glamorous honeymoon touring England and France, their marriage was not a happy one. When it ended in 1951, Turner attempted suicide by slitting her wrists. She survived to marry four more times.

BOB HOPE TELEGRAMS SOLICITING FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR THE OLYMPICS.

Archive of correspondence concerning donations to the Olympic Fund, being two Western Union telegrams, with memos and notes, together 6 pp, from Bob Hope to Dan Topping, dated June-July 1952, various sizes, removed from staple with some loss of paper but not affecting message; usual browning due to age.

On June 19, 1952, comedian Bob Hope sent the same Western Union telegram to Topping and his partner and co-owner of the Yankees Del Webb (both copies included), soliciting contributions to the 1952 Olympic Fund: “BING CROSBY AND I ARE DOING FOURTEEN AND ONE-HALF HOURS TELETHON OVER NBC AND CBS TELEVISION SATURDAY NIGHT, JUNE 21ST. FOR APPROXIMATELY 40,000 PEOPLE FOR OLYMPIC ATHLETES FUND RAISING CAMPAIGN, WOULD APPRECIATE SIZABLE DONATION FROM YOU, IF POSSIBLE IN ADVANCE, SO I CAN ANNOUNCE YOUR NAME ON PROGRAM.” Topping wrote on the bottom of each telegram “$1,000” in pencil. In a note accompanying this group, he puts down “$2,000” and writes in pencil, “Watch show - will give you both a good plug. Tax Deductible D.” Hope writes in a typed letter of July 2, 1952, signed “Bob” in ballpoint, “Thanks, again, for that nice check you sent in for the Olympic Fund. Unfortunately, the public has the impression that the fund was over-subscribed and so the pledges are very slow coming in. However, I’m sure we’ll have sufficient funds when they are needed.” Also included are two inter-office memos (the second with carbon copy), June 20, 1952, concerning these donations. Aired from the El Capitan in Hollywood, the all-star telethon to benefit the United States 1952 Olympic Team was Hope’s first live television appearance and ran from 8 p.m. on Saturday June 21 to 10:30 a.m. on Sunday June 22. Besides Hope and Crosby, the cast included Frank Sinatra, Joan Crawford, Humphrey Bogart, Burns and Allen, Abbott and Costello, Martin and Lewis, The Three Stooges and Marilyn Monroe.

DANIEL TOPPING'S AMATEUR GOLF TROPHIES, 1929-1934.
Four silver golf tournament trophies, 1929, 1934 (2), and 1954. Comprising:

Besides investing in baseball and football teams, Dan Topping was an avid amateur golfer. On April 13, 1934, aged 22, he received a handsome sterling silver bowl for winning the Mason-Dixon Amateur Golf Championship held in White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. According to The Brooklyn Daily Eagle, later that year on September 23, “the olive-skinned monied young man who is playing “banker” to the Brooklyn Dodgers football team,” became the Nassau Country Club's annual amateur invitation golf tournament champion without winning a single hole. He played against Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and other celebrity golfers; and Crosby reportedly said that he preferred to win a dollar from a caddie, than a thousand from Dan Topping, which he often did.

DAN TOPPING AND THE BEN HOGAN COMPANY.
Printed annual reports for the Ben Hogan Company, Fort Worth, Texas, November 9, 1956; November 8, 1957; and October 28, 1958, 8vo, each in original labeled black folder, minor wear.
WITH: an audit report for the Ben Hogan Company, August 1960 and 24 letters (including 12 TLSs, signed “Ben Hogan” or “Ben” with one in absentia; some carbons) with accompanying documents such as 1960 Power of Attorney in triplicate, 51 pp, various sizes, expected creases and some metal paper clip rust stains;
AND: 3 canceled signed Banker's Trust Company checks made out by Topping to Ben Hogan Company, December 26, 1956; and August 1 and 8, 1958.

In keeping with Topping’s passion for golf, among the many lucrative businesses Dan Topping invested in was the Ben Hogan Company. It was founded in 1953 to manufacture a fine line of golf clubs (woods, irons and putters) and balls. William Ben Hogan (1912-1997) was one of the greatest players in the history of golf, and he wisely trademarked “Ben Hogan” to protect his goods, wares, merchandise and business from any and all competitors. He was such a perfectionist that he reportedly demanded the entire first run of golf clubs be destroyed because they did not meet his high standards. After all, his name went on every one. Topping, being an avid amateur golfer, demanded excellence too. Hogan warmly writes to Topping on October 21, 1957: “I should like to take this opportunity to thank you so very much for the support you have given my company this past season. It is my sincere hope that our quality and service have pleased you, and in this connection we constantly strive to improve both.” By 1956 the company reported that it was receiving orders from 2,000 professional players that required 6,000 sets of clubs. In 1958 the company manufactured 12,000 clubs (4,000 woods and 8,000 irons). So esteemed did the name “Ben Hogan” become within the sport that players ordered his goods sight unseen. According to this archive, Bing Crosby was among the top stockholders in the company. In 1960, the company granted Topping Power of Attorney along with several other important investors.

SEMINOLE GOLF CLUB FLORIDA.
Document Signed (“Hunt F. Dickinson” as President and “Valentine C. Bartlett” as Secretary); being a Certificate of Proprietary Interest Seminole Golf Club, Palm Beach County, Florida. 4to, dated October 27, 1952, folded; including a 1952 financial report on the club;
WITH: 16 letters (some carbons), and other documents related to Topping’s interest in various golf enterprises around the USA, including a press release from Sam Snead Enterprises, Inc., 34 pp, and 117 canceled signed Banker's Trust Company checks made out to golf clubs for membership and green fees, including Indian Creek Country Club, National Golf Links of America, Seminole Golf Club, Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, and other golf courses and athletic associations, dated January 4, 1939-December 17, 1959.

Next to baseball, Dan Topping’s major athletic passion was golf. He played whenever he had a chance, anywhere in the country. Seminole Golf Club was founded in 1929 and is one of the top 100 courses in the United States. While in Palm Beach, the Toppings would socialize with the Kennedys and other celebrities.

“Invitation to the Inauguration of Richard Milhous Nixon as President of the United States of America and Spiro Theodore Agnew as Vice President of the United States of America.” Gilt embossed engraving on cream paper, 1 p, 4to, Washington, D.C., January 20, 1969, minor wear and some discoloration due to age;
WITH: a Calendar of Inaugural Activities, 1 p, 4to, January 18-20, 1969, minor coffee stain, and a special order form for souvenirs; together with an invitation to the Inaugural Ball, The Pension Building, 1 p, 4to, Washington, D. C., January 20, 1969. Gilt embossed engraving on cream paper within original envelope addressed to “Mr. Daniel R. Topping” with an RSVP card and return envelope. Some discoloration due to age.

Dan Topping, as former owner of the Yankees, was among the distinguished guests invited to the Inauguration of Nixon and Agnew. He may well have been a contributor to their political campaign, but it is unknown whether he attended the gala. He did fill out (but never sent) the forms for the official souvenirs: 5 Silver Medallions and 2 copies of the deluxe 1969 inaugural book.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

The following Conditions of Sale, as amended by any published or posted notices or verbal announcements during the sale, constitute the entire terms and conditions on which property listed in the catalog shall be offered for sale or sold by Bonhams & Butterfields Auctioneers Corp. and any consignor of such property for whom we act as agent. If live online bidding is available for the subject auction, additional terms and conditions of sale relating to online bidding will apply; see www.bonhams.com/WebTerms for the supplemental terms. As used herein, “Bonhams,” “we” and “us” refer to Bonhams & Butterfields Auctioneers Corp.

1. As used herein, the term “bid price” means the price at which a lot is successfully knocked down to the purchaser. The term “purchase price” means the aggregate of (a) the bid price, (b) a PREMIUM retained by us and payable by the purchaser EQUAL TO 25% OF THE FIRST $150,000 OF THE BID PRICE, 20% OF THE AMOUNT OF THE BID PRICE ABOVE $150,000 UP TO AND INCLUDING $3,000,000, AND 12% OF THE AMOUNT OF THE BID PRICE OVER $3,000,000, and (c) unless the purchaser is exempt by law from the payment thereof, any Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Texas, Virginia, Washington, D.C., Washington state, or other state or local sales tax (or compensating use tax) and other applicable taxes. With regard to New York sales tax, please refer to the “Sales and Use Tax” section of these Conditions of Sale.

2. On the fall of the auctioneer’s hammer, the highest bidder shall have purchased the offered lot in accordance and subject to compliance with all of the conditions set forth herein and (a) assumes full risk and responsibility therefor, (b) if requested will sign a confirmation of purchase, and (c) will pay the purchase price in full or such part as we may require for all lots purchased. No lot may be transferred. Any person placing a bid as agent on behalf of and without knowledge of (or without such person has disclosed that fact or the identity of the principal) may be jointly and severally liable with the principal under any contract resulting from the acceptance of a bid.

Unless otherwise agreed, payment in good funds is due and payable within five (5) business days following the auction sale. Whenever the purchaser pays only a part of the total purchase price for one or more lots purchased, we may apply such payments, in our sole discretion, to the lot or lots we choose. Payment will not be deemed made in full until we have collected good funds for all amounts due.

Payment for purchases may be made in or by (a) cash, (b) cashier’s check or money order, (c) personal check with approved credit drawn on a U.S. bank, (d) wire transfer or other immediate bank transfer, or (e) Visa, MasterCard, American Express or Discover credit, charge or debit card. A processing fee will be assessed on any returned checks. Please note that the amount of cash received and cash equivalent notes cannot be accepted from a given purchaser may be limited.

The purchaser grants us a security interest in the property, and we may retain as collateral security for the purchaser’s obligations to us, any property and all monies held or received by us for the account of the purchaser, in our possession. We retain all rights of a secured party under the California Commercial Code. If the foregoing conditions or any other applicable conditions herein are not complied with, in addition to all other remedies available to us and as authorized by law, including without limitation, the right to hold the purchaser liable for the purchase price, we at our option may either (a) cancel the sale, retaining as liquidated damages all payments made by the purchaser or (b) resell the property, either publicly or privately, and in such event the purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency plus all costs and expenses of both sales, our commission at our standard rates, all other charges due hereunder, attorneys’ fees, expenses and incidental damages. In addition, where two or more amounts are owed in respect of different transactions by the purchaser to us, to Bonhams 1793 Limited and/or to any of our other affiliates, subsidiaries or parent companies worldwide within the Bonhams Group, we reserve the right to apply any monies paid in respect of a transaction to discharge any amount owed by the purchaser. If all fees, commissions, premiums, bid price and other sums due to us from the purchaser are not paid promptly as provided in these Conditions of Sale, we reserve the right to impose a finance charge equal to 1.5% per month on all amounts due to us beginning on the 31st day following the sale until payment is received, in addition to other remedies available to us by law.

3. We reserve the right to withdraw any property and to divide and combine lots at any time before such property’s auction. Unless otherwise announced by the auctioneer at the time of sale, all bids are per lot as numbered in the catalog and no lots shall be divided or combined for sale.

4. We reserve the right to reject a bid from any bidder, to split any bidding increment, and to advance in bidding in any manner the auctioneer may decide. In the event of any dispute between bidders, or in the event the auctioneer doubts the validity of any bid, the auctioneer shall have sole and final discretion either to determine the successful bidder or to re-offer and resell the article in dispute. If any dispute arises after the sale, our sales records shall be conclusive in all respects.

5. If we are prevented by fire, theft or any other reason whatsoever from delivering any property to the purchaser or a sale otherwise cannot be completed, our liability shall be limited to the sum actually paid therefor by the purchaser and shall in no event include any compensatory, incidental or consequential damages.

6. If a lot is offered subject to a reserve, we may implement such reserve by bidding on behalf of the consignor, whether by opening bidding or continuing bidding in response to other bidders until reaching the reserve. If we have an interest in an offered lot and the proceeds therefrom other than our commissions, we may bid therefor to protect such interest. CONSIGNORS ARE NOT ALLOWED TO BID ON THEIR OWN ITEMS.

7. All statements contained in the catalog or in any bill of sale, condition report, invoice or elsewhere as to authorship, period, culture, source, origin, measurement, quality, provenance, exhibition and literature of historical relevance, or physical condition ARE QUALIFIED STATEMENTS OF OPINION AND NOT REPRESENTATIONS OR WARRANTIES. No employee or agent of Bonhams is authorized to make on our behalf or represent us, or to Bonhams 1793 Limited and/or to any of our other affiliates, subsidiaries or parent companies worldwide within the Bonhams Group, we reserve the right to apply any monies paid in respect of a transaction to discharge any amount owed by the purchaser. If all fees, commissions, premiums, bid price and other sums due to us from the purchaser are not paid promptly as provided in these Conditions of Sale, we reserve the right to impose a finance charge equal to 1.5% per month on all amounts due to us beginning on the 31st day following the sale until payment is received, in addition to other remedies available to us by law.

8. All purchased property shall be removed from the premises at which the sale is conducted by the date(s) and time(s) set forth in the “Buyer’s Guide” portion of the catalog. If not so removed, daily storage fees will be payable to us by the purchaser as set forth therein. We reserve the right to transfer property not so removed to an offsite warehouse at the purchaser’s risk and expense, as set forth in more detail in the “Buyer’s Guide.” Accounts must be settled in full before property will be released. Payment, in addition to our other rights and remedies, is for any reason invalid or unenforceable, the rest shall remain valid and enforceable.

10. These Conditions of Sale shall bind the successors and assigns of all bidders and purchasers and inure to the benefit of our successors and assigns. No waiver, amendment or modification of the terms hereof (other than posted notices or oral announcements during the sale) shall bind us unless specifically stated in writing and signed by us. If any part of these Conditions of Sale is for any reason invalid or unenforceable, the rest shall remain valid and enforceable.

11. These Conditions of Sale and the purchaser’s and our respective rights and obligations hereunder are governed by the laws of the State of California. By bidding at an auction, each purchaser and bidder agrees to be bound by these Conditions of Sale. Any dispute, controversy or claim arising out of or relating to this agreement, or the breach, termination or validity thereof, brought by or against Bonhams (but not including any claims brought against the consignor by the purchaser of lots consigned hereunder) shall be resolved by the procedures set forth below.

SALES AND USE TAX

New York sales tax is charged on the hammer price, buyer’s premium and any other applicable charges on any property collected or delivered in New York State, regardless of the state or country in which the purchaser resides or does business. Purchasers who make direct arrangements for collection by a shipper who is considered a “private” or “contract” carrier by the New York Department of Taxation and Finance will be charged New York state tax, regardless of the destination of the property. Property collected for delivery to a destination outside of New York by a shipper who is considered a “common carrier” by the New York Department of Taxation and Finance (e.g. United States Postal Service, United Parcel Service, and FedEx) is not subject to New York state tax. However, if property is delivered into any state in which Bonhams is registered or otherwise conducts business sufficient to establish a nexus, Bonhams may be required by law to collect and remit the applicable sales tax in effect in such state. Property collected for delivery outside of the United States by a freight-forwarder who is registered with the Transportation Security Administration (“TSA”) is not subject to New York sales tax.

MEDIATION AND ARBITRATION PROCEDURES

(a) Within 30 days of written notice that there is a dispute, the parties or their authorized and empowered representatives shall meet by telephone and/or in person to mediate their differences. If the parties agree, a written agreement acceptable to both parties may be selected and in which the parties will equally share such mediator’s fees. The mediator shall be a retired judge or an attorney familiar with commercial law and trained in or qualified by experience in handling arbitrations. Any communications made during the mediation process shall not be admissible in any subsequent arbitration, mediation or judicial proceeding. All proceedings and any resolutions thereof shall be confidential, and the terms governing arbitration set forth in paragraph (c) below shall govern.

(b) If mediation does not resolve all disputes between the parties, or in any event no longer than 60 days after receipt of the written notice of dispute referred to above, the parties shall submit the dispute for binding arbitration before a single neutral arbitrator. Such arbitrator shall be a retired judge or an attorney familiar with commercial law and trained in or qualified by experience in handling arbitrations. Such arbitrator shall make all appropriate disclosures required by law. The arbitrator shall be drawn from a panel of a national arbitration service agreed to by the parties, and shall be selected as follows: (i) if the national arbitration service has specified rules or procedures, those rules or procedures shall be followed; (ii) if the national arbitration service does not have rules or procedures for the selection of an arbitrator, the arbitrator shall be an individual jointly agreed to by the parties. If the parties cannot agree on a national arbitration service, the arbitration shall be conducted by the American Arbitration Association, and the arbitrator shall be selected in accordance with the Rules of the American Arbitration Association. The arbitrator's award shall be in writing and shall set forth findings of fact and legal conclusions.

(c) Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties or provided by the published rules of the national arbitration service:

(i) the arbitration shall occur within 60 days following the selection of the arbitrator;

(ii) the arbitration shall be conducted in the designated location, as follows: (A) in any case in which the subject auction by Bonhams took place or was scheduled to take place in the State of New York or Connecticut or the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the arbitration shall take place in New York City, New York; (B) in all other cases, the arbitration shall take place in the city of San Francisco, California; and

(iii) discovery and the procedure for the arbitration shall be as follows:

(A) All arbitration proceedings shall be confidential;

(B) The parties shall submit written briefs to the arbitrator no later than 15 days before the arbitration commences;

(C) Discovery, if any, shall be limited as follows: (I) Requests for no more than 10 categories of documents, to be provided to the requesting party within 14 days of written request therefor; (II) No more than two (2) depositions per party, provided however, the deposition(s) are to be completed within one (1) day; (III) Compliance with the above shall be enforced by the arbitrator in accordance with California law;

(D) Each party shall have no longer than eight (8) hours to present its position. The entire hearing before the arbitrator shall not take longer than three (3) consecutive days;

(E) The award shall be made in writing no more than 30 days following the end of the proceeding. Judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrator may be entered by any court having jurisdiction thereof.

To the fullest extent permitted by law, and except as entered by any court having jurisdiction thereof, and upon the award rendered by the arbitrator may be pursued by the prevailing party within 30 consecutive days of written notice thereof. Judgment (E) The award shall be made in writing no more than 30 days following the end of the proceeding. Judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrator may be entered by any court having jurisdiction thereof. To the fullest extent permitted by law, and except as entered by any court having jurisdiction thereof.

LIMITED RIGHT OF RESCISSION

If within one (1) year from the date of sale, the original purchaser (a) gives written notice to us alleging that the identification of Authorship (as defined below) of such lot as set forth in the BOLD TYPE heading of the catalog description of such lot (as amended by any saleroom notices or verbal announcements during the sale) is not substantially correct based on a fair reading of the catalog (including the terms of any glossary contained therein), and (b) within 10 days after such notice returns the lot to us in the same condition as at the time of sale, and (c) establishes the allegation in the notice to our satisfaction (including by providing one or more written opinions by recognized experts in the field, as we may reasonably require), then the sale of such lot will be rescinded and, unless we have already paid to the consignor monies owed him in connection with the sale, the original purchase price will be refunded.

If, prior to receiving such notice from the original purchaser alleging such defect, we have paid the consignor monies owed him in connection with the sale, we shall pay the original purchaser the amount of our commissions, any other sale proceeds to which we are entitled and applicable taxes received from the purchaser on the sale and make demand on the consignor to pay the balance of the original purchase price to the original purchaser. Should the consignor fail to pay such amount promptly, we may disclose the identity of the consignor and assign to the original purchaser our rights against the consignor with respect to the lot the sale of which is sought to be rescinded. Upon such disclosure and assignment, any liability of Bonhams as consignor's agent with respect to said lot shall automatically terminate.

The foregoing limited right of rescission is available to the original purchaser only and may not be assigned to or relied upon by any subsequent transferee of the property sold. The purchaser hereby accepts the benefit of the consignor's warranty of title and other representations and warranties made by the consignor for the purchaser's benefit. Nothing in this section shall be construed as an admission by us of any representation of fact, express or implied, or obligation or responsibility, with respect to any lot. THE PURCHASER'S SOLE AND EXCLUSIVE REMEDY AGAINST BONHAMS FOR ANY

SELLING AT AUCTION

Bonhams can help you every step of the way when you are ready to sell art, antiques and collectible items at auction. Our regional offices and representatives throughout the U.S. are available to service all of your needs. Should you have any further questions, please visit our website at www.bonhams.com/us. Digital images may be attached to the form. Please limit your images to no more than five (5) per item.

CONSIGNING YOUR PROPERTY

After you receive an estimate, you may consign your property to us for sale in the next appropriate auction. Our staff assists you throughout the process, arranging transportation of your items to our galleries (at the consignor's expense), providing a detailed inventory of your consignment, and reporting the prices realized for each lot. We provide secure storage for your property in our warehouses and all items are insured throughout the auction process. You will receive payment for your property approximately 35 days after completion of sale. Sales commissions vary with the potential auction value of the property and the particular auction in which the property is offered. Please call us for commission rates.

PROFESSIONAL APPRAISAL SERVICES

Bonhams' specialists conduct insurance and fair market value appraisals for private collectors, corporations, museums, fiduciaries and government entities on a daily basis. Insurance appraisals, used for insurance purposes, reflect the cost of replacing property in today's retail market. Fair market value appraisals are used for estate, tax and family division purposes and reflect prices paid by a willing buyer to a willing seller.

When we conduct a private appraisal, our specialists will prepare a thorough inventory listing of all your appraised property by category. Valuations, complete descriptions and locations of items are included in the documentation. Appraisal fees vary according to the nature of the collection, the amount of work involved, the travel distance, and whether the property is subsequently consigned for auction. Our appraisers are available to help you anywhere and at any time. Please call our Client Services Department to schedule an appraisal.

ESTATE SERVICES

Since 1865, Bonhams has been serving the needs of fiduciaries – lawyers, trust officers, accountants and executors – in the disposition of large and small estates. Our services are specially designed to aid in the identification and valuation and disposition of fiduciary assets, and we offer professional legal support. Our appraisers are available to help you anywhere and at any time. Please call our Client Services Department to schedule an appraisal.

REAL ESTATE

Our real estate services span all sectors of the real estate market from investment properties to dwellings and wind farms. We work with developers, investors, and families to provide an unrivaled level of service and unparalleled expertise. The team at Bonhams is dedicated to delivering the best possible results for our clients across the real estate spectrum.

For more information or to obtain a detailed Trust and Estates package, please visit our website at www.bonhams.com/us or contact our Client Services Department.

“Authorship” means only the identity of the creator, the period, culture and source or origin of the lot, as the case may be, as set forth in the BOLD TYPE heading of the print catalog entry. The right of rescission does not extend to: (a) works of art executed before 1870 (unless these works are determined to be counterfeits created since 1870), as this is a matter of current scholarly opinion which can change; (b) titles, descriptions, or other residual rights of the artist. THE PURCHASER IN NO EVENT WHATSOEVER IS THE LIMITED RIGHT OF RESCISSION DESCRIBED IN THIS SECTION.

LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

EXCEPT AS EXPRESSLY PROVIDED ABOVE, ALL PROPERTY IS SOLD "AS IS." NEITHER BONHAMS NOR THE CONSIGNOR MAKES ANY REPRESENTATION OR WARRANTY, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, AS TO THE MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS OR CONDITION OF THE PROPERTY OR AS TO THE CORRECTNESS OF DESCRIPTION, GENUINENESS, ATTRIBUTION, PROVENANCE OR PERIOD OF THE PROPERTY OR AS TO WHETHER THE PURCHASER ACQUIRES ANY COPYRIGHTS OR OTHER INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS IN LOTS SOLD OR AS TO WHETHER A WORK OF ART IS SUBJECT TO THE ARTIST'S MORAL RIGHTS OR OTHER RESIDUAL RIGHTS OF THE ARTIST. THE PURCHASER EXPRESSLY ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT IN NO EVENT SHALL BONHAMS BE LIABLE FOR ANY DAMAGES INCLUDING, WITHOUT LIMITATION, ANY COMPENSATORY, INCIDENTAL OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES.

The right of rescission does not extend to works of art executed before 1870 (unless these works are determined to be counterfeits created since 1870), as this is a matter of current scholarly opinion which can change; (b) titles, descriptions, or other residual rights of the artist.

The above mentioned items are subject to a limited right of rescission described in this section. "Authorship" means only the identity of the creator, the period, culture and source or origin of the lot, as the case may be, as set forth in the BOLD TYPE heading of the print catalog entry. The right of rescission does not extend to: (a) works of art executed before 1870 (unless these works are determined to be counterfeits created since 1870), as this is a matter of current scholarly opinion which can change; (b) titles, descriptions, or other residual rights of the artist.

Limitation of liability

Except as expressly provided above, all property is sold "as is." Neither Bonhams nor the consignor makes any representation or warranty, express or implied, as to the merchantability, fitness or condition of the property or as to the correctness of description, genuineness, attribution, provenance or period of the property or as to whether the purchaser acquires any copyrights or other intellectual property rights in lots sold or as to whether a work of art is subject to the artist's moral rights or other residual rights of the artist.

The foregoing limited right of rescission is available to the original purchaser only and may not be assigned to or relied upon by any subsequent transferee of the property sold. The purchaser hereby accepts the benefit of the consignor's warranty of title and other representations and warranties made by the consignor for the purchaser's benefit. Nothing in this section shall be construed as an admission by us of any representation of fact, express or implied, obligation or responsibility, with respect to any lot. The purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy against Bonhams for any...
BUYER’S GUIDE

BIDDING & BUYING AT AUCTION
Whether you are an experienced bidder or an enthusiastic novice, auctions provide a stimulating atmosphere unlike any other. Bonhams previews and sales are free and open to the public. As you will find in these directions, bidding and buying at auction is easy and exciting. Should you have any further questions, please visit our website at www.bonhams.com or call our Client Services Department at +1 (800) 223 2854 ext. 3550.

Catalogs
Before each auction we publish illustrated catalogs. Our catalogs provide descriptions and estimated values for each “lot.” A lot may refer to a single item or to a group of items auctioned together. The catalogs also include the dates and the times for the previews and auctions. We offer our catalogs by subscription or by single copy. For information on subscribing to our catalogs, you may refer to the subscription form in this catalog, call our Client Services Department, or visit our website at www.bonhams.com/us.

Previews
Auction previews are your chance to inspect each lot prior to the auction. We encourage you to look closely and examine each object on which you may want to bid so that you will know as much as possible about it. Except as expressly set forth in the Conditions of Sale, items are sold “as is” and with all faults; illustrations in our catalog, website and other materials are provided for identification only. At the previews, our staff is always available to answer your questions and guide you through the auction process. Condition reports may be available upon request.

Estimates
Bonhams catalogs include low and high value estimates for each lot, exclusive of the buyer’s premium and tax. The estimates are provided as an approximate guide to current market value based primarily on previous auction results for comparable pieces, and should not be interpreted as a representation or prediction of actual selling prices. They are determined well in advance of a sale and are subject to revision. Please contact us should you have any questions about value estimates.

Reserves
Unless indicated by the ∆ symbol next to the lot number, which denotes no reserve, all lots in the catalog are subject to reserve. The reserve is the minimum auction price that the consignor is willing to accept for a lot. This amount is to a reserve. The reserve is the minimum auction price that you wish to pay, exclusive of buyer’s premium and tax, and continue bidding until your bid prevails or you reach your limit. If you are the successful bidder on a lot, the auctioneer will acknowledge your paddle number and bid amount.

Absentee Bids
As a service to those wishing to place bids, we may at our discretion accept bids without charge in advance of auction online or in writing on bidding forms available from us. “Buy” bids will not be accepted; all bids must start at or above the highest bid price the bidder is willing to pay. Our auction staff will try to bid just as you would, with the goal of obtaining the item at the lowest bid price possible. In the event identical bids are submitted, the earliest bid submitted will take precedence. Absentee bids shall be executed in competition with other absentee bids, any applicable reserve, and bids from other auction participants. A friend or agent may place bids on your behalf, provided that we have received your written authorization prior to the sale. Absentee bid forms are available in our catalogs, online at www.bonhams.com/us, at offsite auction locations, and at our San Francisco, Los Angeles and New York galleries.

By Telephone
Under special circumstances, we can arrange for you to bid by telephone. To arrange for a telephone bid, please contact our Client Services Department a minimum of 24 hours prior to the sale.

Online
We offer live online bidding for most auctions and accept absentee bids online for all our auctions. Please visit www.bonhams.com/us for details.

Bid Increments
Bonhams generally uses the following increment multiples as bidding progresses:

- $50-200 ........................................
- $200-500 .......................................
- $500-1,000 .................................
- $1,000-2,000 ............................
- $2,000-5,000 ............................
- $5,000-10,000 .........................
- $10,000-20,000 .......................
- $20,000-50,000 .....................
- $50,000-100,000 ..................
- $100,000-200,000 ..............
- $200,000-500,000 ...........

Bidder’s Premium
A buyer’s premium is added to the winning bid price of each individual lot purchased, at the rates set forth in the Conditions of Sale. The winning bid price plus the premium constitutes the purchase price for the lot. Applicable sales taxes are computed based on this figure, and the total becomes your final purchase price.

Unless specifically illustrated and noted, fine art frames are not included in the estimate or purchase price. Bonhams accepts no liability for damage or loss to frames during storage or shipment.

All sales are final and subject to the Conditions of Sale found in our catalogs, on our website, and available at the reception desk.

Payment
All buyers are asked to pay and pick up by 3pm on the business day following the auction. Payment may be made to Bonhams by cash, checks drawn on a U.S. bank, money order, wire transfer, or by Visa, MasterCard, American Express or Discover credit or charge card or debit card. All items must be paid for within 5 business days of the sale. Please note that payment by personal or business check may result in property not being released until purchase funds clear our bank. For payments sent by mail, please remit to Cashier Department, 220 San Bruno Avenue, San Francisco, CA 94103.

Solely for the convenience of bidders, a currency converter may be provided at Bonhams’ auctions. The rates quoted for conversion of other currencies to U.S. Dollars are indications only and should not be relied upon by a bidder, and neither Bonhams nor its agents shall be responsible for any errors or omissions in the operation or accuracy of the currency converter.

Bonhams will hold all purchased lots in our gallery until the buyer’s premium is paid. On the 31st day after the auction, property not paid for in full may be sold to the highest bidder. Please refer to the Conditions of Sale for more information or to obtain a quote. Carriers are not permitted to deliver to PO boxes.

Bonhams will hold uncollected sold lots in our gallery until the 31st day after the auction. Bonhams reserves the right to remove uncollected sold lots to the warehouse of our choice at the buyer’s risk and expense. Handling and storage fees will apply.

Auction Results
To find out the final purchase price for any lot following the sale, please call our automated auction results line at +1 (800) 223 2854 ext. 3400. All you need is a touch-tone telephone and the lot number. Auction results are usually available on the next business day following the sale or online at www.bonhams.com/us.
